

COOLIDGE WANTS TINCHER CREDIT BILL

FARM RELIEF IS AWKWARD FOR COOLIDGE

One Group Hopes That Administration Will Fail to Pass Farmers' Bill

USE FAILURE FOR ISSUE

Part of Senate is Sincere in Trying to Judge Merits of Proposals

Washington.—The administration is literally between the devil and the deep blue sea with respect to farm legislation. The situation is about as awkward as could be imagined. For the truth is one group in the senate is interested in making a political issue over the failure of the administration to provide relief for the farmer and another group is trying to judge the various proposals on their merits.

Between the two conflicting policies the farmer is likely to get nothing at all done in his behalf before adjournment of congress.

The extremists who claim to be friends of the farmer and this includes some who are voting for the McNary-Haugen bill are blocking the progress of affairs by insisting on all or nothing. The administration has countered with several suggestions through senators who want to see some kind of a start made toward handling the surplus problem. But because the original McNary-Haugen plan cannot be obtained, the group sponsoring the latter plan joins with others to vote down alternative proposals.

The two parties are divided. The vote on the McNary-Haugen plan showed that an almost equal number of Republicans voted for and voted against the bill. The Democrats had more votes against than for the measure. Some of them would be disappointed to see any action taken as they realize the campaign value of a do-nothing policy.

LACK PARTY POLICY

The western Republicans had counted on the southern Democrats to help them but even the Democrats could not work out a party policy. The whole trouble is that neither the Republican nor the Democratic leadership can handle the rank and file on the matter of farm legislation. Senators themselves are in doubt about the economic principles involved and some go as far as to say the bills proposed may hurt the farmer more than help him.

The significant thing is that the administration realizes the seriousness of the situation in the west and would really like to do something before the end of congress to show good faith with the farmer. The McNary-Haugen bill would go part way toward handling the farm surplus but would be defeated by the president's veto. But the advocates of the McNary-Haugen plan feel that any compromise means surrender of the vital principle to which they are clinging. With the sponsors of the measure it is a sincere effort to secure the adoption of a new method of treating agriculture and the organization behind the bill outside of Washington has been intensively developed. So no matter what is done in the concluding days of congress to vote down the proposals they will be the subject of extended debate and will be revived the instant congress reconvenes.

A study of the vote shows that it is by no means difficult to persuade many of those who voted against the McNary-Haugen plan to change over if certain features of the measure can be brought out of the realm of doubt as to constitutionality. The administration feels, on the other hand, that time works in favor of the opposition to the bill and that as the measure is analyzed its defects will become apparent.

HONORS SOLDIERS KILLED IN CUSTER'S LAST STAND

Omaha Agency, Mont.—(AP)—Veterans of General George A. Custer's old regiment—the Seventh Cavalry—Saturday joined the new Seventh and hundreds of Indians assembled here in honoring the soldiers killed 50 years ago Friday in engagements led by Major Reno and Captain Benteen.

Saturday's ritual concludes a three day flag ceremony commemorating the semi-centennial anniversary of the battle of the Little Big Horn in which Custer and his immediate command were annihilated by Sioux and Cheyenne Indians June 25, 1876. A cross was erected on the site of the Reno-Benteen fight by General E. S. Godfrey, retired one of four surviving officers of the old Seventh.

Miss Murray Marries David Bivaini, Artist, Today in Hollywood

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Filmdom looked forward Saturday to what promises to be its next outstanding marriage—that of Mae Murray, blonde vamp of the screen, to David Bivaini, artist, who is described as having once been a prince in what is now the republic of Georgia.

A marriage license was obtained by the couple Friday when they diverted their route to the license bureau while Bivaini was taking Miss Murray to the doctor for treatment of injuries she received recently in a fall. At the time it was said that the wedding would occur in the near future, and later it was indicated that it might take place in the next day or so.

Miss Murray is 33, while her fiancé is 27. They met three weeks ago at a party given by Pola Negri, the actress. Miss Murray has been married three times, while the approaching marriage will be Bivaini's first trip to the altar.

1,300 Perish In Floods That Sweep Thru Mexico

Nogales, Ariz.—(AP)—A dispatch to the Herald Saturday said that the estimate of the number of victims of floods in the region of Leon, Guanajuato, Mexico, had been placed at 1,300. All the bodies have been recovered. The waters of the Santiago river, which caused the damage, were reported as receding.

Efforts to bring food and medical supplies into the region are being hampered by crippled rail facilities. Miles of tracks have been washed out, or are still covered with water, the dispatch said, and railroad bridges have been swept away. Relief crews rushed from neighboring points are finding the disaster far greater than they can handle with their limited facilities.

Reports from the upper reaches of the Santiago river, in the northeastern section of the country near Lake Chapala, to the effect that no perceptible rise has occurred within the last few hours, is an indication that the peak of the flood has passed, the message said.

The present disaster is declared to be even greater than one last January when the Santiago river broke from its banks and 1,000 persons were drowned.

Churches, public buildings and homes which have escaped damage by the flood waters in Leon, have been thrown open for the relief of the homeless, according to the dispatch. Long lines of flood victims are passing through improvised morgues in attempts to identify missing relatives.

Hunger is beginning to show its ravages. Stores and warehouses have been thrown open to the demands of the stricken inhabitants. Every precaution at hand is being taken to prevent the outbreak of pestilence in the flooded area.

Torrential rains for the last two weeks have caused the greatest floods in the history of the region, the dispatch said. Entire business blocks have been swept away in Leon, and an incalculable amount of property damage has been done. Unharvested crops have been completely inundated.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS THREE, INJURES TWO

Engine Boiler of Freight Explodes Near Kingston, Rhode Island

New York.—(AP)—Three railroad men were killed, two others were seriously injured and several passengers on an express train were slightly injured in the New York, New Haven and Hartford train wreck near Kingston, R. I., early Saturday, said an official statement issued by the road here. The dead were W. J. Moulton, engineer, John J. Mulvaney, fireman and George Hathaway, head brakeman, all of Providence. R. I., members of the crew of a freight train which was wrecked when the engine boiler exploded, one and a half miles west of Kingston.

Three cars of the freight train were thrown across the adjoining tracks, on which the Cape Codder express bound from New York to Hyannis, Mass., arrived a short time after the explosion. The engine of the express swerved off the tracks and landed head down over a slight embankment. The sleeping car next to the express engine turned over and the next three sleepers were derailed but remained upright.

Some passengers on the express were injured, but none seriously, said the railroad statement.

Engineer Frazier of the express, and Fireman Bennett, both of New Haven were seriously injured.

BLAINE ATTACKS WATERWAY BAR

Governor Claims Special Interests Prevent St. Lawrence Project

Ashland.—(AP)—The proposed St. Lawrence waterway was emphasized by Governor Blaine in a campaign talk here Friday night.

"Control of the water powers of Niagara by special interests is the worst reason why there is no deep waterway," he said. "These interests have not acquired complete control. When they have this control you can expect something done for the deep waterway but till then nothing. Nothing has been accomplished for the last 26 years. So long as senators from the northwest and Wisconsin support the policies of the eastern group there will be no waterway."

Governor Blaine continued his attack on the world court and league in the history of the Secretary of the Treasury Mellon "a rich man's lawyer who never goes to jail because of his method."

FIND HUT WHERE PASTOR WAS HELD

Official Searching Party Locates Shack Where Mrs. McPherson Was Captive

Douglas, Ariz.—(AP)—The shack in which Amee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, she was held captive by three abductors, was located 20 miles southeast of Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico, Saturday morning according to members of an official searching party who returned here after several hours hunt.

A local photographer left immediately with the posse to take pictures of the shack for identification by Mrs. McPherson, who is en route to Los Angeles. Friday Constable O. A. Ash, who headed the searching party, declared he was convinced that he had sighted the cabin and the evangelist herself expressed the belief that the posse was on the "right trail at last."

The Ash party has spent more than three days tracing what were believed to be Mrs. McPherson's footprints leading from Niggerhead mountain in Sonora, Mexico, and announced last night that the tracks had led 18 miles southeast of Agua Prieta from which point the shack was sighted.

REBELLION IN SPAIN DUE TO NEW TAX LAW

Economic Distress Is Blamed for Conspiracy Against Government

Barritz, France.—(AP)—Travelers from Madrid say the Spanish government has ordered all telephonic communication between Madrid and the provinces suspended except for official messages. It has been impossible to communicate between the capital and Valencia and Barcelona since seven o'clock Thursday night.

BULLETIN

Buenos Aires.—(AP)—Ultra conservative generals, some of them of the nobility, joined with Republicans in a vast conspiracy against the Spanish government because of economic distress which was especially felt in Madrid, says a dispatch to La Nacion from Hendaye, France.

More than 100 persons, including 30 military officers were arrested in Madrid alone Thursday, the dispatch says. Some of those arrested are believed to be free of blame and their only connection was friendship for the plotters.

The consensus in Madrid, it is declared, is that the conspiracy was inspired by patriotic motives, particularly because of dissatisfaction in Madrid caused by the new tax laws and in the army because of the substitution of the merit system in place of seniority promotion.

General Weyler, known in Cuba for his harshness as administrator there before the Spanish-American war, was moved to join the conspiracy because of his anger at being ousted as chief of the general staff. He was able to muster much of his great following in opposition to the dictatorship of General Primo De Rivera. Eighteen generals in all were named as conspirators. Several regiments in Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia were counted upon to join the plot.

PROMINENT MEN IN PLOT

The Republicans, Marcelino Domingo and Deputy Barriobero, the communist leader, Juan Andrade, the syndicalist leader Salvador Quemades and Dr. Maranon, famous physician and vice president of the Ateneo, the foremost cultural and literary society of Spain, are among those named as leaders in the plot.

La Nacion says that an agent provocateur, gained the confidence of the plotters. Thursday night police and detectives swept down on them. Madrid was in great excitement he was reported in continuous session since Wednesday afternoon. Censorship of news has been strict.

TERRIFIC FLOODS RAVAGE GERMANY

Fifteen Die During Disaster Which Cost Country $30,000,000

Berlin.—(AP)—Twenty thousand troops, one fifth of Germany's entire regular army were under relief service orders Saturday to repair the damage done by the worst floods in Germany in a century.

Saxony was the heaviest sufferer with $18,000,000 damage to crops and property out of $30,000,000 damage through Germany. Fifteen dead have been counted.

Every able bodied civilian available along the Elbe and Oder rivers labored to prevent new breaks in the levees.

The city of Magdeburg was on guard against a new and more serious rise in the Elbe river which would imperil railway communication with Berlin.

Approximately 100,000 acres of cultivated land were under water and some villages near Halle were entirely surrounded and depend upon food dropped from airplanes for subsistence.

Nine persons have been killed by lightning in the lake Constance region which was visited Saturday by terrific lightning storms. The fatalities occurred in various villages on the shores of the lake.

MOB BREAKS UP KLAN MEET AT MARINETTE

Marinette.—(AP)—A mob estimated at more than 1,000 persons gathered in the vicinity of the tent in which the Ku Klux Klan were holding a revival meeting, at Marinette Friday night, stormed the tent and burned it. A number of fist fights followed.

The trouble started, it is reported, when some one emerged from the tent and pointed a gun at the crowd outside. Many extra police were detailed to the scene but were unable to quiet the mob. There were no serious injuries. The revival meetings precede the annual Konverson to be held here Sunday, June 27.

Former Sweetheart Takes Stand Against Durkin

Chicago.—(AP)—Elizabeth "Betty" Andrews, the 21 year old sweetheart who was spurned by Martin Durkin when his luck broke good, appeared in court Saturday to testify for the prosecution, which is seeking to send Durkin to the gallows for the murder of federal officer Edward C. Shanahan.

Sobbing convulsively and faltering in the account of her relations with Durkin before and after the killing, the young woman placed upon the trial record a narrative of the movements and conversations of the defendant which brought from the state's attorneys the suggestion that their case might end with the testimony of only a few more witnesses.

The defense resisted the attempt to place Miss Andrews on the stand.

An attempt by the state to establish the paternity of the two year old son of the witness precipitated verbal warfare between attorneys.

During the oral combat, the witness gave way completely to tears.

PROBERS WILL GRILL K. K. K. AND CHURCHES

All Organizations That Effected Election Will Be Asked to Testify

Washington.—(AP)—The Ku Klux Klan, the churches, the wets and the dries, and all others whose organized influence has been felt in senatorial elections will be asked to testify about their activities before the senate campaign funds committee.

This announcement was made Saturday by Chairman Reed after it had cancelled Saturday's session so that more details of the operations of the Anti-Saloon league could be supplied by Wayne B. Wheeler.

The chairman told Wheeler the committee "will welcome any information that you have" about other organizations but the dry leader replied with a smile: "We have lost it."

Senator Reed said that Captain William H. Clayton, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, would be among those questioned.

Wheeler agreed at the committee's request to send an agreement to the Anti-Saloon league headquarters at Westerville, Ohio, to take from the books a mass of information about league finances reaching back as far as 1919.

BARE CONTRIBUTORS

This information will include sums spent for political purposes direct or indirect; money sent to the state organizations for political purposes, and the names of all of those who have contributed $500 or more, to either the national or state leagues.

Wheeler objected to the committee making public the names of the contributors on the ground that it would subject the donors to "annoyances."

"I want to say now," broke in Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, "that so far as I am concerned, I shall want these names spread upon the records just as have names of other contributors of campaign funds."

Chairman Reed said that of course that will be done and that any person who participated actively in political campaigns could expect to have their activities inquired into.

On Monday additional witnesses from Pennsylvania will be heard.

DEMAND RECALL OF SUPERIOR MAYOR AT POLITICAL ROW

Superior.—(AP)—At a public mass meeting, which hundreds were turned away and which nearly resulted in the calling out of police 900 citizens Friday night demanded the recall of Mayor Fred A. Baxter, charging him, in speeches, of "graft," "bossism," "Tammany rule" and "crookedness."

The meeting was one of a series of political upheavals that has shaken the city from time to time since last spring. Public Works Commissioner John Schafer was the main speaker and charged the mayor with paying men in various city departments who had never worked for the city.

"BOB" WOULD LIMIT MONEY FOR CAMPAIGN

La Follette Moves to Fix Limitation of Election Expenses

Washington.—(AP)—Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, the insurgent Republican member, moved in the senate to establish definite limits, before the fall elections, on expenditures which may be made in behalf of any candidate for a seat in the chamber.

Democrats, meanwhile, are discussing the question whether Representative Vane, the successful candidate for the senatorial nomination in the Pennsylvania Republican primary, will be seated if elected. More than $600,000, the committee has been told was expended during the primary campaign by the coalition which supported Vane and E. E. Biedeman, the unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate.

Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, charged Friday that a senator had been "auctioned off" in Pennsylvania, and Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, retorted that it was sold to the next lowest and worst bidder. Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, expressed the opinion that the senate will never confirm that sale, and Heflin agreed.

WOULD FIX LIMIT

Announcing that he would seek action before adjournment "so that all candidates may be duly advised of the limitations which they must place upon their expenditures in order to be seated," Senator La Follette introduced a resolution to fix expenditure limits to $10,000 and $25,000 for both primary and election campaigns. A two-thirds majority is required for adoption of such a resolution, which the senate's legislative counsel has held to be within its constitutional privileges, since it is the sole judge of qualifications of its members.

Under the resolution, candidates and their supporters would be confined, between the limits prescribed to expenditures for nomination and election amounts to not more than three cents for each vote cast in the preceding general election, for senator in their states. Primary expenditures would be confined to costs of advertising, meetings, traveling and headquarters, and sworn statements would be filed with the secretary of the senate and judiciary committee of the elections committee before the successful candidate could take his seat.

SENATE WON'T LAY ASIDE ALL FARM RELIEF

Supporters of Defeated McNary Proposal Agree Not to Table Legislation

WONT BLOCK VOTE

Insurgent Republicans Move to Support Gerald P. Nye at Primary

Washington.—(AP)—Senate supporters of the defeated McNary equalization fee bill agreed Saturday to abandon their move to lay aside all farm relief legislation.

The change in plans was attributed to the statement issued late Friday by President Coolidge who urged congress to pass the Tinchner farm credit bill while not favoring the Tinchner bill. The McNary group decided not to attempt to block a vote on it in view of the president's request.

In accordance with the new agreement Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, withdrew Saturday the motion he made Friday to lay aside all farm relief legislation in the senate and proceed to the consideration of veterans relief.

This left the Jardine cooperative bill to which the Fess bill is proposed on a rider, before the senate as the unfinished business. At the request of Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, however, the senate laid the Jardine bill aside temporarily for consideration of the house veterans bureau bill. It was agreed that after that measure was disposed of, the farm bill again would have right of way.

FIGHT G. O. P. TARIFF

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor commander, sought to consolidate his party's ranks in battle against the Republican tariff, which, he holds, is the cause of the farmer's troubles. He brought forward a resolution Friday to instruct investigations immediately looking to reduction of rates on a long list of commodities used by farmers.

Insurgent Republicans and other senators who at times have been identified with them, meanwhile, have moved to the support of one of their number, Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, who is up for nomination in the Republican primary in that state Wednesday.

Senator Norris and Howell of Nebraska, Frazier of North Dakota, Steinfeld of Minnesota, and La Follette of Wisconsin with former Senator E. B. Ketchum of Iowa, signed a joint appeal to North Dakota voters urging support of Nye, while Senator Johnson, Republican California, issued a separate statement. Both stressed his record on farm relief legislation and the joint statement emphasized "that the cloak of party regularity behind which selfish interests seeks special privileges cannot bind him."

WRISTON WARNS GRADS WORLD IS IN STATE OF FLUX

Lawrence President Delivers Address to Milwaukee High School Seniors

Milwaukee—(AP)—Ours is today a world in constant change, a world of revolution, President Henry M. Wriston of Lawrence college, Appleton told the graduating class of West Division high school, at a commencement exercises Friday night, and in this world, "flexibility of mind, this ability to launch into new situations, this creative power is vital."

"You are going into a civilization more completely in a state of flux than any which history records, into a world where our superior knowledge is more relative and less absolute than in any earlier age," he said. "You must breast a current moving at a pace more rapid than ever before in human history. The speed at which life moves has increased more rapidly in the last twenty-five years than in the previous seventy-five. It increased more than seventy-five times in the thousand years before."

"The world today is ruthless to those who do not know how to observe, to think creatively, to strike out in new paths, and to develop new forces for the stabilization of life. The demand is for folk with courage to accept the new thing, and with discrimination enough to reject the thing which is merely novel, but unground. If you are to succeed your education has just begun."

NATURE ERASES OREGON TRAIL

Famous Route Traveled by Pioneers Covered With Sagebrush and Other Growth

Kemmerer, Wyo.—(AP)—Nature with her marks of time is erasing from southwest Wyoming the Old Oregon Trail—that road, which meant the building of a western empire, with its many tales of heroism against the redskins, the tragedy of lost lives of pioneers and the indomitable courage of the early settlers of the West.

The Old Oregon Trail extended across southwestern Wyoming for 100 miles from the Big Sandy river at Pacific Springs to Cokeville on the Bear river on the Idaho boundary. But the Old Trail is passing.

Now sagebrush covers the old road which once rumbled with wheels of the covered wagon. In many places the barbed wire fences of the ranchers have broken across the trail and in the space left unbroken only an occasional sheep rancher's wagon travels.

Memory of the trail is to be preserved by a highway, to be known as the "Old Oregon Trail," across Wyoming from Granger to Cokeville, and then to Portland, Ore., but the new road does not follow the original path of the "covered wagon" caravans.

HIGHWAY 15 TO BE CLOSED FOR NEXT TWO WEEKS

Detour Traffic While Road Is Made Wider to Connect With S. Cherry-st

Highway 15 will be closed beginning Monday, between Appleton and Menasha while the road from the connection with S. Cherry-st about a quarter mile west is made wider, according to O. C. Rollman, highway division engineer at Green Bay. Work in widening the 15-foot highway will take about two weeks if weather is favorable. Traffic will be detoured over Highway 151 and the Waverly Beach road. Mr. Rollman declared. A new detour has gone into effect on Highway 54 between Black Creek and Seymour while the road is under construction. Traffic is directed south and west over a fair detour, but the main highway is open part of the time it is closed only while blasting is being done.

COUNTY ROADS GOOD

All Outagamie-co roads are passable and most of them are in fairly good condition, according to A. G. Frusevitz, county highway commissioner. Rough spots still remain on Highway 47 north of Black Creek, as the rain during the week prevented the filling in of bad places. County dirt roads are fair for automobile travel, but heavy trucks would cut them up considerably, as the ground would yield to their weight. At present these roads are smooth and not hard to travel.

The gravel road between Portage and Stevens Point on Highway 10 is reported in poor condition. North of Stevens Point to Hurley the same highway is in good condition. It consists of pavement, gravel and dirt. On 10 and 14 between Merrill and Rhinelander the gravel and dirt road is good.

Highway 13 from Marshfield to Medford, a gravelled road, is reported in poor condition. A few days of dry weather will improve it to a great extent.

State trunk 36 between Wausau and Chippewa Falls has numerous soft places in the gravelled road and is in poor condition. The detour between Waupaca and Stevens Point on state trunk 18, consists of gravel and dirt in fair condition. Highway 54 between these two towns is reported in poor condition. Highway 47 between Rhinelander and Woodruff is gravelled and is reported to be good for travel, as is 63 between Merrill and Eagle River.

FARMERS DEMAND COUNTY SENDS BIG PRICES FOR PORKERS AT FAIR

Rural Residents and Wholesale Buyers Attend Monthly Sale Here

Squealing of young pigs mixed with the bark and growlings of dogs and the cackling of chickens created a real "fair" atmosphere at the Stock Fair grounds on N. Walnut-st. where the monthly stock fair was held Saturday morning.

More than 1,000 farmers from the rural districts of Outagamie and several surrounding counties attended the fair and parking space on W. College-ave, was at a premium. The farmers began arriving early Saturday morning with loads of young pigs to sell to wholesale buyers.

Although there were more than 2,000 young porkers on the ground and the demand for them is keen, the young pigs did not sell as rapidly as at the fair in May. Farmers were bringing in baby hogs that were too small to bring a good price and were asking enormous prices for their wares, according to several buyers.

Several wholesale dealers from northern Illinois, several from Madison, several from Whitewater and many more from southern Wisconsin were at the fair. The dealers transport the pigs to other parts of the state where there is a demand for young stock and retail them to farmers who raise the young porkers for the market.

Police dogs, fox terriers, rabbit hounds and mongrels could be bought at the grounds and many farmers brought in chickens to sell.

Mrs. E. Hassenfeldt and daughter of Oconto, are spending the week with her sister, Mrs. George Kinziger, E. Wisconsin-ave.

DELEGATES TO G. O. P. MEETING

Republicans Adopt Platform Plank Indorsed by Council and Civic Clubs

Outagamie-co Republicans attending the state Republican convention in Milwaukee Thursday and Friday were particularly pleased with that portion of the platform which urges a study of the Wisconsin tax situation by a non-partisan board appointed by the legislature. A similar proposal was made to the interim legislative on taxation by a chamber of commerce committee appointed to study the situation. The proposal has been approved by the chamber of commerce, the city council and Appleton Trades and Labor council.

Fourteen delegates were elected by the county Republican committee but not all of them were able to attend the Milwaukee meeting. The county committee is empowered by its constitution to call a county convention to elect delegates or to appoint them. About fifty of the ninety members of the committee attended a meeting here a few days ago and after canvassing the situation decided to appoint delegates who would be representative of the county.

The following delegates were named: G. A. Cuff and David Hodgins, Hortonville; W. A. Shaw, Black Creek; M. G. Verbeten, Kimberly; Nick Nooyen, Little Chute; Dr. W. H. Towne, Shiocton; L. H. Waite, Seymour; R. M. Radsch and Edward Grebe, Kaukauna; A. M. McClure, Bear Creek; F. J. Harwood, Homer Benton and J. D. Steele, Appleton.

ZULU PRINCE HERE TO STUDY NEGROES

Lexington, Ky.—(AP)—Prince Bullamo of Zululand is in Dixie studying the American negro.

"My purpose is to study my people here along educational and vocational lines," he said. "When I return I will establish the same line of work among my people."

The Zulus, most warlike tribe in the whole of South Africa, at the same time are the most refined and Christianized, the Prince declared. He is the son of the war chief Catewayo of Zululand, who raised the insurrection against England in 1897. Catewayo died, a prisoner of war, after two years' imprisonment in England. Since his death there have been no chiefs.

Bullamo said "there is class of people that will assimilate education and Christianity more quickly than those semi-barbarians in the wilds of Zululand."

WHITE HOUSE SADLY IN NEED OF MAJOR REPAIR

Entire Building Must Be Rebuilt to Save It from Destruction

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
Washington—"What in the world" numerous persons have been heard to remark recently, "is the repair going to do to the White House that can possibly be made to cost $350,000?"

The truth is that the executive mansion probably could be duplicated now, inside the sum that Budget Director Lord suggests as necessary to do a thorough job of repairing the present structure.

But it wouldn't be the same White House. It might look just like the old one but it wouldn't have the old one's historical associations. The theory is that these are preserved by repairing instead of rebuilding.

Now to speak of "repairing" the present White House is simply to use for the benefit of those who set so much store by its historical associations, a euphonious expression. The old thing will have to be practically rebuilt, anyway.

Rebuilding it, and yet not rebuilding, is more expensive, according to the experts, than it would be to raze it, begin at the beginning, and build entire.

This is truer of the White House than it would be of most buildings. For the White House has one very remarkable structural peculiarity. It was built originally not from the bottom up but from the top down.

The builders began by putting up piers to support the roof. These piers they roofed over. Then they suspended the second floor, underneath, from the roof. The upper part of the house hasn't anything to do with the foundation. It hangs down from overhead.

Well, a new roof is one of the things most urgently required.

But to estimate the minute the repair gang takes the old one off, down tumbles the second floor into the first floor, and then both, probably, into the basement.

It's roof, however, isn't the White House's only weak spot.

The whole building has been gradually disintegrating for a long, long time—some plaster here, a cracked joint there, a busted bit of plumbing some other place.

Slowly, as the process of decay went on, little dinky jobs of repair work have been done. When a seam opened somewhere, it was stopped up with putty. When a floor sagged, it was braced up. When the roof leaked, a coat of waterproof paint was smeared on it.

All this "first aid" was recognized as only temporary. Only—nothing permanent ever followed it.

Today the whole wreck, while it looks all right, is held together by nothing much but a lot of rusty nails, mullage and calumnie.

The repair gang has got to put a kind of plaster cast around it to keep it from collapsing while they operate, extract all the worn-out stuff, bit by bit, replace it by more substantial material, remove the cast and there she is—the genuine original edifice, with its historical associations intact to the last detail.

The White House was to have been rejuvenated this summer while the president was on his vacation.

It soon became apparent that it couldn't be done that fast and the president doesn't want to be in temporary quarters when Congress meets next December, so the job's been postponed until next March's adjournment.

The experts "guess" the building will stand up that long.

REVIEW BOARDS MEET NEXT WEEK

Highway Commission Advances Date of Its Monthly Meeting

Owing to the fact that town boards of review will meet next Monday, the Outagamie-co Highway committee held its regular meeting at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, instead of Monday afternoon, the regular meeting day. Only routine business was transacted, including allowance of bills.

"Taxpayers who feel that they have been unjustly assessed and that they are paying higher taxes than they should must make a complaint before the board of review of their town or city, in order to gain relief. They must furnish sworn oral testimony, sufficient to prove that the assessor's value is erroneous. This testimony must be a matter of record in the clerk of the board of review's minutes. Unless sworn oral testimony is produced and made a matter of record in the minutes, taxpayers are powerless to change values as finally fixed by the assessor."

Town boards of review are required by law to meet on the last Monday in June of each year. In cities the board of review is required to meet on the first Monday in July each year.

KONZ COMPANY OPENS TWO NEW BRANCH PLANTS

New Factories, Already in Operation, Are Located at Green Bay and Pulaski

Increased in business has made it necessary for the Konz Box and Lumber company of this city to begin operations at two new manufacturing plants. One of these, at Pulaski, began operation about June 1 and the other at Green Bay is just beginning work.

The plant at Pulaski manufactures egg cases, butter boxes, banana crates and cheese boxes. The addition of the two new mills makes five Konz factories. They are located at Appleton, Neenah, Seymour, Pulaski and Green Bay. Besides these factories the company has warehouses in four cities for convenience in distribution of the finished product. The warehouses are located at Marinette, Green Bay, Fremont and Appleton.

SEEK MORE WORK
The new plant at Green Bay will be known as a Banana crate and Egg case factory. These two products are most generally used, and according to S. A. Konz, head of the company, the production of egg crates is always behind the demand.

Cotton wood, or as it is sometimes called, whitewood, is used in the manufacture of egg crates. Yellow poplar is used for making butter cases. Although the Konz company has a great amount of surplus wood on hand owns several large tracts of timber land in the north. Mr. Konz said that he intended to go south in the near future to search for additional supplies.

More machinery is being added to the local factory. A Coe veneer lathe was installed last week. This machine is used to cut logs into thin sheets used in making the boxes. The new machine has a 64 inch knife. The old machine, a little larger, is to be taken to the factory at Pulaski.

Some time ago R. C. Konz, a son of S. A. Konz, invented a combination jointer and matching machine. This machine takes the place of two machines which formerly were used. The first new machine was installed in the factory about two months ago and was found to be successful. Several improvements were made and two of the new type machines are being made at a local machine shop. They will be ready for installation in about two weeks.

Library Helps Patrons Select Summer Reading

In an effort to assist patrons, the staff of the Appleton Free Public Library has compiled a list of books that are particularly suited for summer reading. These books may be drawn on the special summer privilege plan which is now open to all patrons of the library. This privilege entitles every person having a card to draw ten books from the library on one card and these books need not be returned until Oct. 1.

"My Antonia" by W. S. Cather is one of the books. The story is told by friends of Antonia's childhood, a man who through all his years of worldly success has never forgotten this fine Bohemian girl who has been one of the strongest influences of his early life. The unusual skill of the author in telling the story is one of the strong points of the book.

"The Promised Land" by Mary Antin, is an argument for immigration dealing with the benefits derived by America and the immigrant, each to each. In the moving vividly interesting pages of her biography Mary Antin has presented the case of the Russian Jew American citizenship as it has never been presented before.

"What Can Literature Do For Me?" by C. A. Smith is a series of brief essays on books and the value of reading. The headings of each chapter have been written to indicate the character of the contents.

38 STATE PUPILS AT MOOSE SCHOOL

Eight Children from Kaukauna Attend Institution at Mooseheart, Ill.

Eight children from Kaukauna, five boys and three girls all members of one family, who are attending school at Mooseheart, Ill., maintained by the Royal Order of Moose, will have had approximately $2,000 spent upon them by the time they graduate at 18 or 19 years of age, according to an announcement received here. Their mother is with them at Mooseheart.

There are 38 Wisconsin children—22 boys and 16 girls from eight Badger cities in the student body at Mooseheart at this time. Milwaukee has the largest number, three families at Mooseheart and one at home, including seven boys and three girls.

The total cost of their education, training and nurture will exceed $85,000, it is estimated. Green Bay children at the school will take approximately $20,000.

The Beloit children will cost about $45,000, those from Kenosha $61,000, the four from Eau Claire $38,000, those from Stevens Point including a girl who has been graduated $13,000, and Oshkosh $10,000, the report shows.

The children in the Mooseheart school, and there are now 1,320, are given a thorough academic training, preparing them for college. In addition, they are trained vocationally, so that they become self-supporting, and can earn their way after graduation. Besides their scholastic and vocational education, they spend enough time on the 1,100-acre farm, which forms an essential part of their school lessons and learn all phases of agricultural activities. They are also given every possible musical advantage, whether vocal or instrumental.

STUDENTS GIVE PLAY IN GREEK

Grecian Ambassador and Wife to Witness Presentation at Holy Cross College

Worcester, Mass.—(AP)—The Holy Cross dramatic association has been dabbling in extremes. A short time ago the students presented Shakespeare's "Macbeth" in modern garb. On Memorial Day, these same students will present a Greek drama 2,000 years old, Euripides' "Hecuba." The Grecian ambassador to the United States and his staff will attend "Hecuba," which will be presented in the Greek language. The ghost of the old Greek chorus will be there in the shape of a group coached in dancing movements by Miss Helen A. Curtin of the Buffalo School of Harmonic and Rhythmic Expression. The Holy Cross Glee Club will assist, singing music as old as the play itself.

Notes to the "Hymn to Apollo," carved in stone and excavated at the ruins of Athens, have been used as the basis for the score of the play. This hymn was first sung in America a year ago by the Greek Academy of Boston College. The costumes have been especially designed from drawings found in the ruins of the ancient classical center, while the football stadium has been transformed to resemble the original theater at Athens in which the drama was first presented.

The orchestra circle will be sixty feet, and the stage will be at a distance of eighty feet from the first row. Amplifiers will be the only evidence of modernity.

POLITICAL BUNCOMBE
Mr. Blaine has launched his candidacy for the senatorship with a denunciation of the foreign policies of the administration on whose party ballot he is running. He says the world court is the instrument of a super-government, and that in joining it we have bartered away "America's independence and her national integrity." Of course, Mr. Blaine knows there is not one iota of truth in these statements. He makes them because he believes this attitude toward our foreign relations is popular and for the further reason that he wants to disagree with the administration on every possible point. He says the international bankers put us into the world court, another assertion with about as much truth as the yarns that used to be told about British-owned newspapers in the United States.

An unflinching characteristic of men of the Blaine type is their sweeping denunciations covering things about which they either know nothing or wilfully misrepresent or exaggerate. Think of a man of presumed intelligence making the charge that America's independence has been bartered away or that its national integrity has been sold. He knows it bears not even the faintest color of truth, yet he harangues the crowds with it on the assumption that they will swallow it merely because he says it. And the same applies to the assertion about a super-government and about the international bankers.

What a joy it would be to put Mr. Hughes, or Mr. Taft, or Mr. Root, or President Coolidge on the same platform with Mr. Blaine and let them expose his patent medicine methods. There was a time when politicians of his stamp could not get away with such tommyrot. They had to have some substance and some qualities in their make-up that appealed to level-headed, thinking men. Today the wilder their charges, the farther they are from truth and fact, the lighter they themselves are in the head, the more enthusiasm they seem to provoke. We are going through a peculiar political evolution, but in due time that which is rational and sound and right will reassert itself.

GOLDEN EGGS AND OTHER GESE
The Society for the Promotion of Atheism has announced that it proposes to organize a society of atheists among the students of every college in America. This sounds a good deal like killing the goose that laid the golden eggs. Without the Christian church America would have no educational system worth the name and no colleges in which to organize atheist societies.
Yale university was organized by ten ministers in 1701. Harvard university was organized by the Colony of Massachusetts Bay as a church school and was given the name of "Harvard" in recognition of John Harvard, a young clergyman who died, bequeathing the sum of nearly four thousand dollars and a library of three hundred volumes. Hamline university, the first college in Minnesota, was organized by the Methodists and the University of Minnesota was first organized by missionaries and later, under the leadership of ministers, was taken over by the state. The University of Kansas was organized by the Episcopalians and Presbyterians and later became a state school. The State Agricultural College of Kansas began as a Methodist school.
Nineteen of the first twenty-two superintendents of public instruction in Kentucky were ministers of the gospel. The Episcopal church organized the state educational system of Florida. Wisconsin had no normal colleges for the training of teachers outside of denominational schools until long after the Civil war and the history of almost every other state is quite similar. Peter Cartwright, the eccentric backwoods Methodist preacher of Illinois, introduced the bill into the state legislature which provided for the establishment of the University of Illinois and several preachers were on the first board of directors. Chicago university, one of the greatest schools in the world, was founded by the Baptists.

Among the earlier pioneers of every state were the missionaries and priests who preached the gospel, buried the dead and built churches and colleges. In almost every state in the Union the first educational institution of college grade was organized by some church or religious society. More young men and women have been helped through college by the churches than by any other means except public taxation. If atheism had been successful in 1776 there would be almost no colleges in America now, in which to organize student societies of atheists, for atheism can lay claim to having inspired the founding of but one college in all of America, Girard college of Philadelphia. "By their fruits . . ."

MELLON GIVES A SECRET
Europeans who come to America marvel at our success. They are given various reasons for it, such as our vast natural resources, creating a prosperity which they regard more or less as undeserved. Andrew W. Mellon made a speech the other day and in it he gave a few reasons for our prosperity that might well be handed on to any guests from other countries who drop in on us.

"We have found in this country that, by investing heavily in labor-saving devices, we can increase the productive capacity per capita of labor and also eliminate waste, which is such an important factor in the attainment of national prosperity. In this way we can pay high wages and still reduce costs, so that the finished products are still within reach of the average man. This, in turn, increases consumption and still further stimulates production. In the end we find that it pays to manufacture in quantity and to make a large volume of small profits. That is the secret of our success in America."

Mr. Mellon merely told a truth that Americans are beginning to take for granted. But we do not realize the significance of the fact unless it is pointed out by some casual observer. The Ford factories are one example, the great meat packing plants another, the marvelous distribution system of the motion picture industries another.

And labor, which has learned that only by co-operation can its condition be improved, has used its brains. Labor is living well and banking a little, in some cities, in banks it is organizing itself.

Employers and employees have helped each other toward realization of an economic dream that is a wonder to outsiders.

PREVENTION OF LOCKJAW BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service

The symptoms of tetanus are varied. The disease usually develops in from six to 15 days. When lockjaw develops within six days in a man the disease is almost invariably fatal. The milder cases of tetanus usually require a longer period for development and such patients may recover. There are a number of cases of slow development on record where recovery has taken place even without the use of antitoxin now so generally administered in tetanic infection.
Suffering
One of the most noticeable symptoms of tetanus is marked stiffness of the neck and the lower jaw. This is why the disease is called lockjaw. When a person has received a lacerated wound which has been much soiled by dirt or dust; or a puncture wound from a nail or garden instrument or household utensil, he should be taken to a doctor to determine whether he should receive an injection of antitoxic serum.
These injections should be repeated at intervals of a week until three doses have been given. Wounds, however insignificant, may be contaminated and should always be thoroughly cleansed. Puncture wounds or lacerated wounds should be opened and care should be taken to remove every piece of foreign matter.
If gun wadding or other foreign material has been driven into the wound don't attempt to clean the wound yourself, take the patient at once to a doctor. Prompt cleaning of a wound is almost as important as thorough cleansing, so don't delay.
You should also know that antitoxin is a reliable and trustworthy preventive. If any doubts existed on this score prior to 1920, the experience of the armies during the war has demonstrated the effectiveness of this treatment.
Antitoxin should be administered before the symptoms of lockjaw occur. The reason for this is that after tetanus toxin has combined with the motor nerve cells in the central nervous system it cannot be displaced with antitoxin.
Antitoxin should, however, be administered if the patient has already shown symptoms of the disease, to prevent further damage. The most important fact for you to remember is that tetanus antitoxin should be administered just as soon as possible.

PREDISPOSITION IN FRANCE
The trend of medical opinion in France as we were about to say when they blew the whistle on us the other day, is different from the American medical view of the predisposition to tuberculosis. In America we take little stock in the idea of a special predisposition to tuberculosis, constitution or tendency, and favor instead the belief that more than 90 per cent of adults harbor latent tuberculosis and just an occasional individual develops active tuberculosis as a consequence of his unhygienic mode of life. In France they cling to tradition and the French medical view is well shown in an article by Dr. Nigoul-Foussal in Le Bulletin Medical, on the "petty signs" of tuberculosis.
As I understand it this French writer would have us believe that a skillful diagnostician may recognize signs of even the latent tuberculosis which, as I have just said, more than 90 per cent of all adults in this country have. The very name of latent tuberculosis signifies that it is just a smoldering focus and that it produces no signs or symptoms. So we think in this country. Not so in France. Nigoul-Foussal details the "petty signs" of just that state, and these signs constitute the picture of predisposition. Remembering the endless stream of highly fanciful medical theories which come out of France, not to mention the well known humors in French cosmetic and beauty remedies, one hesitates to quote freely from this author's article, but we'll chance it with the warning to readers that if any of the descriptions "hits your case" there is nothing much to worry about. Just clip the part that "hits your case" and take it along with you as an excuse for seeking a physical or health examination by your physician. Of course a really competent physician requires no explanation from the intelligent client who would have a periodic examination for the excellent purpose of keeping well. But, alas, there are so many old fossils—some of 'em still youths—in practice. Should you encounter a mossback who does incline to laugh at a perfectly healthy person seeking a physical examination, thrust the clipping in his hands and hurry away—don't be bounced by his kind of examination.
Not Going Into Decline
In one group of persons so "predisposed" to tuberculosis, according to this French author, the characteristic "petty signs" are chilliness, subnormal temperature and lassitude, which are usually associated with habitual low blood pressure.
In another group the "petty signs" are due to a low grade intestinal inflammation, and consist of constipation, nausea, vomiting, capricious appetite.
In a third group, the individuals merely show an excessive reaction to protein injections of any kind and an idiosyncrasy or oversensitiveness to the action of such drugs as quinine and aspirin.
In a fourth group the "petty sign" is early obesity. Some lay readers will be surprised to know that obese young adults not rarely develop tuberculosis.
Nigoul-Foussal points out that, while these "petty signs" may be taken as evidence of a predisposition to tuberculosis, many individuals presenting these signs live for long years without developing active disease.
Again I remind the reader that most of us can readily select some of these "petty signs" if in quest of something to "fit my case."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Best Blood And Nerve Medicines
I am anxious to find out which are the best medicines for blood and nervous diseases . . . (E. W. H.)
Answer—Of course no remedy can be considered best for such diseases. Only in quack literature is such a notion fostered. You seek "nerve tonics" and "blood purifiers." I suppose. You will never find any such medicines, but plenty of humbug of that sort, if you will be humbugged.

Q. Why does the State of New York recognize a divorce obtained, say, in Reno when the grounds for divorce in Nevada are so different from the grounds in New York? E. T.

A. The Constitution of the United States imposes certain obligations upon the States in their dealings with each other. Section I Article IV, providing that "Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State." This clause has been held to mean that, in civil causes, when the courts of one State have given a judgment such judgment will be recognized and enforced by the courts of every other State without a new trial. It also means that contracts legally entered into in one State are binding and enforceable in another. In the matter of divorce, by this clause a State is required to recognize a divorce granted in any other State, even though it may have been granted for reasons for which the laws of the first State would not allow a divorce. The only restriction which courts have upheld in their interpretation of this clause of the Constitution is that the State granting the divorce shall have jurisdiction over the parties—that is, that the party should have a bona fide residence within the State and that proper notice of suit should be given. Thus New York must recognize Nevada divorces if it be shown that the plaintiff had a legal residence in Nevada and the defendant had been legally notified of the suit.

Q. Is yawning infectious or "catching"? C. K.
A. A peculiar thing about the process of yawning is that one person in a room yawning will cause nearly all or most of the others in the room to yawn also. The only explanation for this is that when several people are in a room and one of them begins to yawn, the others do so, not because they have perceived he is affected by the first yawn, but because the air in the room has become so poor that there is not enough good air for all the people in it, breathing normally, and many of them are forced to yawn at about the same time.

These trips are usually started early in the morning and the girls generally are back in camp in time to have fresh fish for breakfast. Only the girls with brave hearts (in other words the ones who can hold a worm when it is squirming and twisting and put it on the hook) take part in these trips.

The camp is open to all girls in Appleton and as the quota is only 60 each week the girls are advised to get their applications in early, before July 1, if possible. Last year many applicants had to be refused admission because the quota was filled.

WHAT IS THERE IN IT FOR ME?

The American People, to use a slang expression, have the 'gum mies'. They want to see something of direct benefit to them before they will put themselves out for any cause.

You cannot appeal to the ordinary citizen by telling him it is his duty to go to church. You must present the question in such a fashion that he will see something in it for himself before he will go.

Those words were spoken by an outstanding Indiana lawyer not long ago.

You do not have to go to Church as a duty.

Go for the benefit you will obtain.

The farmer the laborer the businessman, the banker, all get by giving. They exchange their labor for the fruits of labor.

We make friends by being a friend.

In every aspect of life we must give something if we expect benefit in return.

This is true of the Church. We must take the trouble to attend, and to take part in the affairs of the Church, and we will reap a harvest of benefit in proportion to what we put into the Church, not more, not less.

The Church offers inspiration, instruction, an opportunity to associate with people who aspire to live better lives.

Come to this Church tomorrow. Attend regularly. Put something in, and you will get something out.

KROMER RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF BASEBALL TEAM JAIL BREAKER IS CAPTURED

Kaukauna Man Says He Can't Devote Time to Running Ball Squad

Kaukauna—George "Stormy" Kromer has resigned as manager of the Blackwell baseball club in the Southwestern league because of pressing business engagements. Kromer has felt that he could not devote enough time to the club to make it a winner and still keep up the rest of his business. He is president of the Kromer-Kap Company of Milwaukee which takes a great deal of his time. Kromer, however, will retain his ownership interest in the club and will watch every movement of the team from both here and his business office at Milwaukee. Kromer arrived in Kaukauna Friday morning. Mike Belenti of the Comar Tonkawa club has taken over the management. Belenti is a player on the club.

Before leaving Blackwell Kromer stated to a member of the press there: "We are through experimenting for this year." "We have enough young players. Belenti will manage the club and direct the play on the field. No other old timers will be used."

At present Blackwell is in fourth place, having won 20 and lost 24 games with a percentage of .455. Stebbins of the Blackwell club is leading the team in hitting, batting .377 in 20 games. Pocan of Kaukauna is the second best slugger on the team and is eleventh in the league standings. Pocan is hitting .362. Grabbly, whom Kromer got from Milwaukee is in twelfth with .359.

Ray Gertz, also of Kaukauna, has been released to the Amarillo club in Texas oil league for further seasoning. Gertz was a bit too inexperienced for the Blackwell club, but Kromer said Gertz is a comer and that he will be back with the club before long. Ball fans from Kaukauna have been watching Kromer's team with great deal of interest. Pocan and Gertz were members of the Kaukauna team in the Fox River league.

EPWORTH LEAGUE INSTITUTE HAS BIG ENROLLMENT

Eighty-five Delegates and Many Visitors Present at Meet

Forest Junction—Eighty-five delegates representing Epworth leagues within an area bounded approximately by Fond du Lac and Plymouth on the south, Appleton and Green Bay on the west, and Sturgeon Bay on the north, were enrolled this week for the Francis Asbury league institute held this year for the first time in connection with the annual camp meetings of the Milwaukee district of the Methodist Episcopal church. In addition to the accredited delegates, there were many visitors from over the entire district.

The camp grounds lying two and three quarters miles east of this village were the scene of the sessions which opened last Monday evening and closed Friday. The session overlapped the camp meeting services which opened Wednesday and closed Monday evening. Sheboygan was awarded the banner for the highest percentage registration of delegates.

Among the noted speakers at the meetings was Dr. L. W. Lesemann, president of the Chicago Training school for the past six years. Preaching his last sermon here Thursday evening, he prefaced his message with remarks on the institution he represented. The school, founded by Mrs. Lucy Rider Meyer of Chicago, has an average enrollment of 1500 students, all of whom are trained for special Christian service; and 460 foreign missionaries have already gone out from it during the past 20 years of its existence. Dr. Lesemann left after his sermon for Neenah, from where he proceeded to Albion, Mich. to attend another institute.

Sunday will be the chief day of the meetings. Dr. J. A. Diekmann, president of the Bethesda hospital and Dorcas school at Cincinnati, O., who arrived Friday, preaches in the afternoon. The Sunday Bible school, supervised by the Rev. A. E. Schreiber of Manitowish, precedes the sermon. Miss Alma Huppert, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Huppert of Sheboygan, who has been home from her missionary work in China for some time, conducts a children's meeting with a missionary talk in the afternoon. After this Dr. Mary Stone, native Chinese, delivers a sermon. She is a medical missionary of Christian parentage and received her medical education at the University of Michigan. Dr. Howard Musser, formerly a missionary to India, now connected with the Church Board of Education in Chicago is to preach the evening sermon.

STAGE AND SCREEN

WHILE HANGMAN WAITS CON-DEMNED MAN WITHOLDS FACTS THAT WOULD SAVE LIFE

It is 5:50 A. M. The scene is in the death house with a condemned man who is to be hanged at the stroke of six. A young District Attorney is pleading with him, urging him to tell the full story of the murder of which he was convicted. It is apparent he is withholding important evidence which might save him. But even as the hour of his death grows nearer and nearer the doomed man's lips remained sealed—he maintains his strange silence.

Such is the dramatic opening situation of "Silence," Beulah Marie Dix's thrilling screen version of Max Marcin's famed crook melodrama, which was filmed under Rupert Julian's direction and which will be shown at the Fisher's Appleton Theatre for 3 days starting tomorrow.

The action is swiftly shifted from the death house back through the years into narrative, which builds up a series of suspense that eventually bring the principals back to the death house for the closing scenes, and a terrible fire in the prison which marks the picture's climax.

H. B. Warner, the star of the original Broadway presentation of the play, is seen in the leading role, with Vera Reynolds playing opposite him. Raymond Hatton, Rockcliffe Fellowes, Jack Mulhall and Virginia Pearson are featured members of a noteworthy cast.

Also our Gang Comedy and a Vaudeville specialty.

"RED HOT TIRES" ZIPS
ALONG AT MERRY PACE

"Red Hot Tires," starring Monte Blue, will crackle away at a merry pace at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday.

To begin with, Gregory Roger's amusing novel, upon which this Warner Bros. Classic is based, is one of the most amusing comedies ever screened. It has a charming hero, a pretty, impulsive heroine, three dangerously crooked kidnapers and a story that is crammed with rib-tickling smashups of hearts and traffic regulations.

Fanny Ruth Miller never looked prettier than she does in this picture. She gives Monte Blue every reason to forget his fear complex of automobiles and dash madly to her rescue from the kidnappers. It is almost needless to say that Monte Blue makes a perfect hero, eagerly romantic and boldly daring. The remainder of the brilliant supporting cast includes Fred Esmelton, Lincoln Steadman, Charles Conklin, Tom McGuire, William Lowery, Jimmie Quinn and Malcolm Waite.

Erie C. Kenton directed this gay production which was adapted to the screen by Edward T. Lowe, Jr.

"The Road to Mandalay," a bizarre mystery drama of Singapore, Mandalay and the Bay of Bengal, is coming Monday to the Elite Theatre, and presenting the famous actor in one of the strangest disguises he has ever worn in the role of "Singapore Joe," sinister ruler of an Oriental underworld. Lois Moran, Owen Moore, Henry B. Walthall, and other noted players appear in the story directed by Tod Browning at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

A few bottles fixed me up in good shape." Cost little, but a reliable, valuable medicine guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for Foley Pills. Sold everywhere. adv.

LOCAL COMPANY MAKES PATTERNS FOR MANY MILLS

Appleton Pattern Works Has Built Up Big Business in Short Time

One of Appleton's newer industries which has shown a remarkable growth in the little over three years since it has been established is the Appleton Pattern Works, manufacturers of wood and metal patterns, located at 418 E. Winnebago-st. B. F. Wacholz, proprietor of the pattern works established his first shop in the plant of the former Reliance Motor Truck Co. on W. Spencer-st. A few months later he moved to his present location.

During the short time Mr. Wacholz has been in business he has built patterns for six complete paper machines in addition to making hundreds of patterns for other kinds of machinery. Patterns manufactured include those for replacing broken and work out parts on machinery, experimental types, board patterns, disks and special foundry equipment. The wood patterns are usually made of white pine but mahogany is used when the work is of a delicate nature. For hard usage maple and cherry are the best.

When there are hundreds or thousands of pieces to be cast a metal pattern is required. In making a metal pattern of pine or plaster paris is first produced. An aluminum casting is then made. Such a model, if taken care of properly, will last a lifetime.

The Appleton Pattern works is equipped with a complete line of the modern machinery such as a disk sander, electric hand shaper and router, 21 inch planer, 14 inch jointer, band saw and cut off saw. Such equipment not only increases the production of patterns but greatly reduces their cost.

Last year in addition to 5,000 feet of pine about 500 feet of mahogany and maple were used at the shop. The Appleton Pattern works has built patterns for nearly all the large factories and mills in the vicinity including those at Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Milwaukee, Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, Clintonville and Green Bay.

BISHOP BANS FORM CLINGING DRESSES

Paris—(AP)—The Bishop of Angers has issued these instructions as to what is acceptable in women's dress in the eye of the church:

At church, dresses should be high-necked, reach well below the knee and be provided with long sleeves. For weddings, the bride and her attendants may have a slight opening at the neck. Bare or merely veiled arms are banned. For town wear, dresses "must not cling to the body" and must fall well below the knee. Sleeves must reach the elbow. Dresses must not be open at the neck "below the collar bone" and open work or transparent stockings are prohibited.

For evening dress, the opening at the neck must only slightly pass the collar bone. Dresses again must not cling to the body, must have at least small sleeves and come below the knees, by two hands' breadths. At dances, gloves must be worn, and nothing danced which involves the bodies of the dancers coming in contact. (The bishop uses the phrase "corps a corps" which is used in boxing for in-fighting).

Eastern States Revolting Against Higher Taxation

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson has just been making a tour of the eastern states. On his return he was asked what impressed him most as being of interest to the business men and he replied: "A growing resentment against increased local taxes." His complete statement is as follows:

"For the first time since the war, I find a popular resentment arising against further local taxes. When the great mass of state, county and municipal bonds began to be issued, following the war, only a very few people realized that these bonds must some day be paid. The voters, of course, understood that increased expenditures for current expenses would increase taxes, but they did not seem to realize that voting for bond issues would increase taxes. Therefore, all new bond issues went through with almost unanimous votes. In fact, many voters felt that the only expense connected with the transaction was printing of the bonds. Conditions today, however, are considerably changed.

"As a result of voting a bond issue, the tax rate must immediately be increased to cover the interest of the bonds. As many states required annual sinking funds or serial issues, these annual payment must also immediately be met by increased taxes. As the aggregate tax increase in taxes becomes a large figure, as taxes are increased, rents are increased likewise. As a result, the cost of these bond issues is now being severely felt in many communities. Until there was an increase in rents, the non-property owner thought that these new bond issues would not affect him. Therefore, only the large property holders who hold up a hand of warning in the early days. Owing to the increase in rents, caused by increased taxes, every voter is now becoming seriously interested in the tax problem. Popularity of new bond issues is apparently on the wane.

NEW ROADS BIG FACTOR
"An analysis of the state, county and municipal bonds issued during the past five years, shows that a great proportion is for the building of new roads. Expenditure for new roads is popular because new roads not only increase property values, but also give a great amount of joy to everyone. Even the most pessimistic must admit that expenditures which thus far have taken place for new roads have been exceptionally worth while. The road situation, however, is now getting pretty well in hand and many of the roads now being projected are for private development rather than for public necessity. But as the sub-subsidized craze is now on the wane and most communities have enough new lots laid out to take care of their growth for years ahead, additional roads are now being given careful scrutiny.

The Supreme Court decision in connection with Texas road bonds has also dampened the ardor of bond houses for new issues of road bonds. Although this decision technically affects only Texas road bonds, yet it directly affects road bonds in some other states and sentimentally affects all road bonds. This Texas decision will result in the re-drafting of road district legislation in a way to give more opportunity for dissatisfied tax payers to object. Although new legislation can rectify all defects in present laws, yet this very rectification will tend to make it less easy to put out new issues. Apart from this Texas decision there has gradually been developing among large investors a feeling that certain communities are putting out bonds too fast and investors are not so hungry for such issues as they were awhile ago.

NON-TAXABLE FEATURE
"So long as the high sur-taxes were in effect, wealthy investors were compelled to buy state, county and municipal bonds in order to avoid having Uncle Sam take most of their income. Naturally, this greatly stimulated the market for municipals. Recent federal tax legislation, however, has reduced the maximum sur-tax from 40 per cent to 20 per cent. This automatically releases for the purchase of taxable corporation bonds a large amount of money which heretofore could be used only for the purchase of non-taxable municipals. With a continued large output of non-taxables, I am afraid this year might witness a considerable decline in the price of non-taxable bonds. If, however, owing to a popular uprising against local taxation—the output of non-taxable bonds is to be curtailed, this curtailment may offset the ill effects of the tax legislation on non-taxable bond prices. At any rate, we will hope this to be the case as there is no better investment than a good municipal bond.

"How this feeling against increased local taxation will affect general business cannot be foretold. Doubtless the temporary downturn in the price of certain lines, which restoration indirectly must have an effect on other lines. On the other hand, there is always a supply of money in the country and if it doesn't go into one thing it goes into another. Therefore, there should not be any permanent harmful effect, but rather a permanently good effect. Speaking exactly, there is no technical difference between thrift and spending. The distinction lies in the purpose for which the money is used. Today the spending is changing from certain channels to other channels. Hence, although certain industries and certain sections may complain about business at the present time, yet the business of the country as a whole still holds good, registering on the Babsonchart as 9 per cent above normal."

SOFTWOOD MILLS BETTER OFF THAN LAST YEAR

The principal softwood mills appear to be in a much stronger position this year than they occupied at the corresponding date last year. Last year their cumulative sales had amounted to about 2 percent less than their output, whereas this year they were 2 percent more. The favorable statistical showing from a mill standpoint, however, in part the result of a slowing down in production, for prices have remained at a low and unprofitable level. The reduction in mill stocks resulting from an excess of shipments over production is accompanied by a reduction in retail yard stocks. In many cities there has arisen uncertainty about the building outlook, because of demands for increased building trades wages, while the country pine will continue to buy cautiously until crops are assured. Retailers are in face buying so close to their requirements that the lull in buying usual at this time of year is not expected to be pronounced as it ordinarily would be, says the American Lumberman, Chicago, and many predict that stocking for fall trade will begin in the next few weeks.

Southern pine bookings were 4 percent above, and shipments 8 percent above, production in the week ended June 12. Southern demand is better than northern, and rural yards are taking more than city yards. Export demand for pine has been increasing in prices, but as a while they continue at former levels.

Coast fir mills received orders for 2 percent more than they cut, during the week ended June 12, and orders for the four weeks ended on that date just balanced production while shipments were 8 percent heavier. Foreign demand is quiet. Domestic cargo trade is better, for while California buyers conservatively there has been improvement in Atlantic coast demand. Rail trade bookings increased notably. Quotations show no change. Production is not being pushed, and there is a probability that it will be considerably curtailed around the July 4 shutdown.

The hardwood market is weak. Recent output of both southern and northern species has been much larger than new business booked. Buyers generally are seizing the opportunity thus presented to beat down prices, and have had some success. Building trades needs are increasing, good quantities moving to flooring and millwork factories. Automobile demand is better than it was expected to be. Furniture makers are not taking much, as they find their trade dull, but their current requirements are larger than they were recently.

ADD WAREHOUSE TO HEATING CO. PROPERTY HERE

Valley Heating Company Is Local Agent for Ideal Furnace

Increasing business of the Valley Heating Co. 535 W. Lawrence-st., has made it necessary for the concern to erect a new warehouse on its property for storing supplies. The new building is 40 feet long and 20 feet wide and contains space for a great number of heating plants and furnace parts. Charles Hume, proprietor of the concern has been in the heating business for over 12 years and recently opened the present shop on W. Lawrence-st.

The Valley Heating Co. is the local agent for the Ideal furnace, one of the most popular heating systems used in Appleton at the present time. Now is the best time to have an Ideal heating plant installed in order to avoid any delay caused by the usual rush of people who wait until the last minute or when it turns cold before thinking of putting in a new furnace for the winter, he says.

Ideal furnaces are smokeless and gas proof. When smoke and gas come up through the heat pipe it means furnace joints are not tight. The Ideal has overcome this disadvantage for all time by extending the ashpit and feed section through the front, thus eliminating a joint in the air space that permits escape of gas and smoke. This brings the door connections outside the air chamber. The ashpit and base section are cast in one integral unit thus eliminating joints in construction. The additional expense of this process is more than offset by the advantages derived through the elimination of the troublesome joint in the ashpit that is largely responsible for dust in the furnace room.

Another very important feature of the one piece ashpit is the more perfect control of the furnace by the operator. This is due to the airtight construction, there being no joints to permit leakage of air. Fire can be held in this heater for 48 hours without difficulty.

The water pan in the New Ideal has been enlarged to provide ample moisture to the air. It is conveniently located for refilling in the front of the furnace and at a point where it comes in contact with greatest heat.

MARK SPOT OF INDIAN MISSION WITH TABLET

Tallahassee, Fla. —(AP)—A bronze tablet now marks the spot where nearly 300 hundred years ago Franciscan priests taught the word of God among wandering Indians. It is located near New Smyrna, Fla. There the priests taught Indian boys and girls their catechism, baptized them, received their confessions, married them and officiated at the last rites for the dead. An old Spanish document, found some time ago, revealed a communication from the Franciscans to the king of Spain, asking for certain implements. Hoos, particularly were sought, "which," the letter read, "are the most essential for the many 'entradas' which have to be made, and the erection of houses and temples in the Indian villages."

WYOMING HAS HUGE SOFT COAL SUPPLY

Cheyenne, Wyo. —(AP)—Wyoming has coal beds sufficient at the present rate of consumption to supply the entire United States for 2,000 years, said Albert B. Bartlett, state geologist. The total amount of coal in the state is 1,676,620,100,000 tons, virtually all of the bituminous variety.

BLAST OF MOLTEN METAL STRIKES YOUTH IN FACE

Explosion Results When Wet Metal Is Shoveled in Melting Pot

Lloyd Lockin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lockin, 900 N. Richmond-st. was badly burned about the eyes and face when a shovelful of molten metal which he was putting into a melting pot at the Timmers Composition company exploded and threw the hot metal into his face.

It is thought that the metal was wet and when the water touched the molten metal in the melting pot it became steam and exploded. Some of the metal splashed on his eye lids. One of his eyes was not seriously injured but it will not be known for several days whether he will lose the sight of the other.

The eye is so badly burned and swollen that it is impossible to make an examination. The boy also received severe burns about the face. He will be confined to St. Elizabeth hospital for several weeks. The young man had been employed by the Timmers company for about a year.

NEW POTATOES GETTING CHEAPER

Price Soon Will Be Down to That Demanded for Last Year's Spuds

New potatoes are being reduced in price and will soon be as cheap as old potatoes. The new varieties are now selling at from 19 to 25 cents per peck or at $2.25 per bushel. Old potatoes are becoming scarce and the price has advanced 25 cents per bushel since last week, to $2.50.

Tomatoes are now selling at 25 cents per pound and yellow and green beans are bringing 20 cents per pound.

Cucumbers are selling at from 10 to 25 cents each depending on size and quality. Spinach, of which there is very little on the market is selling at 20 cents a pound and asparagus is selling at 15 cents a bunch.

Fresh green onions and radishes are retailing at a nicker a bunch although most people are using these vegetables from their own gardens. Celery is selling at from 25 to 35 cents a stalk.

MOVE ANCIENT SCHOOL TO NEW LOCATION

Clover Blossom school, district 3 of the town of Maple Creek, which served for about sixty years, was moved Wednesday and Thursday to a new site about one-half mile north of its old location. The old frame building is in good condition, despite its age. It was ordered moved at a recent meeting, for the purpose of centralizing the school in the district.

A shipment of livestock was made Thursday to Red Granite by the Wisconsin Livestock association. Another shipment will be made Monday to Ridgewood, Ill. There is a big demand at the present time for pure bred livestock, according to Fred Harriman, president of the company.

Raise Bees For Profit and Pleasure.

Beekeeping for pleasure and profit is carried on by thousands of people in all parts of the United States. Increasing numbers are making it their vocation each year. Beekeeping is also extremely fascinating to the majority of people as a pastime, furnishing outdoor exercise as well as intimacy with an insect whose activity has been a subject of absorbing study from the earliest times. It has the advantage of being a recreation which pays its own way and often produces a substantial profit.

To be successful in beekeeping a careful study of bee activities is essential. This knowledge is contained in a free booklet on apiculture issued by the Department of Agriculture. A BOOKWORM WHO CAN'T READ

Thomas Pentress is only four and he can't read yet. But he spends more time in the Richmond (Va.) public library than anyone else. He prefers books that have lots of pictures but isn't adverse to poring over those that have none. He comes to the library every day, pulls out a book—any book—and sits down with it.

"THREE"—

THREE essential factors must be considered when a will is being drawn:

1. The intent of the maker. His wishes must be stated in language that is clear and explicit.
2. The laws governing the preparation and execution of wills. These should be scrupulously observed.
3. The legality of the provisions of your will. The maker of a will may wish to incorporate certain provisions which the law would not sustain.

The drawing of a will should be entrusted to a lawyer. By having your will properly drawn you may assure yourself that it is a valid instrument. So called "home-made" wills are often invalid and result in protracted litigation.

The Story Spreads

The most powerful motor of its size

500 more sold today. Study the trend

It has: Speed between 60 and 70 honest miles an hour.
Extraordinarily long sustained high speed.
Power on any hill to pass most cars in high.
Quick as a cat—acceleration 5 to 25 miles in 7½ seconds.
Powerful four-wheel mechanical brakes, the last word in safety.
54 horsepower, long stroke motor, rated at 20.
The tax saving is only part of its economy.

LIKE a comet.
This is the way the new "70" Willys-Knight Six burst across America's motor-car firmament. The evidence is conclusive. Only 6 months old—yet 30,000 sold in the past 90 days. This new "70" Willys-Knight Six is admittedly the most up-to-date car in America.

It has the most powerful standard motor of its size so far produced in this country.

Tests prove it the most efficient automobile built—and the most active.

The motor of the new "70" Willys-Knight Six is an exclusive feature—the famous Knight sleeve-valve motor, patented—which other manufacturers would give millions to get.

Quieter, more powerful, more efficient than any other motor of its size when new, the Knight sleeve-valve motor grows smoother, more powerful, more efficient with every mile.

The motor of the new "70" Willys-Knight Six requires no carbon-cleaning . . . It has no valves to grind . . . It has no springs to weaken. . .

It is practically fool-proof and wear-proof . . . So far as we know, no Willys-Knight motor has ever worn out.

Sales prove this new "70" Willys-Knight Six is the most suitable car for most families. Please ride in it. You will find it the most economical and continuously satisfactory car you can drive.

The new Willys Finance Plan means less money down, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry.

"70" Willys-Knight Six from $1295 to $1495; Willys-Knight Great Six, a luxury car as superior in its class as the "70", from $1750 to $2495. Prices f. o. b. factory. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

NORTH MISSIONS NEED MORE HELP, MINISTERS TOLD

Seminary Teacher Describes Need for More Buildings at School

Reports of mission work in northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan by the northern Wisconsin district of the Wisconsin Lutheran synod were given by the Rev. Paul Oehlert, Kaukauna, chairman of the home mission board, at the business session of the district convention here Friday afternoon.

The district has established numerous missions in the sparsely populated out-over country in northern Wisconsin and Michigan. Mr. Oehlert emphasized the need for more contributions for mission work and the necessity of establishing still more stations.

Prof. Richard Janke of New Ulm, Minn., reported on conditions of the Lutheran teachers' seminary in that city. He said the institution was overcrowded and the present facilities were entirely inadequate. The present enrollment of the school is 281. Prof. Janke stressed the importance of erecting a new building immediately, and urged that funds be subscribed for the purpose.

The morning session Saturday was devoted to business. It was planned to discuss educational and religious topics in the morning meetings, but the large amount of business to be disposed of before the end of the conference next Tuesday made the all day business meeting necessary.

TO WEAR TOREADOR HATS IN ENGLAND

London—(AP)—Jam-pot hats have palled on the millinery trade and London designers are trying to hit some kind of larger hat which women will accept.

The toreador hat has been selected by many makers as the most likely successor. It is a mannish type suited to the mannish way in which some women wear their hair. The brim may be turned up a bit more than a real toreador and it may be decorated with a few flowers and trimmed with bright colored silk in Spanish colors. The trimming is mostly underneath the brim.

"... of Sound Mind"

In olden times, wills were invariably begun with this statement: "I, J— B— being of sound mind and disposing memory, —". Apparently, it was assumed that the mere act of making a will might arouse doubt concerning the testator's sanity.

Wills made now seldom, if ever, refer to a "state of mind." In fact, the existence of a will is generally accepted as proof of soundness of mind.

A will is an important document. Common sense and good judgment should govern it. The wording should be correct. Your will should be written by a lawyer.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home of their own shortly after their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract.

Previous chapters told how John, a romantic individual, was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom PAT FORBES, one of John's best friends, hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

DR. DICK MENEFFEE marries MARGARET WATSON and John is best man. Margaret's younger sister, CLARA, runs away and marries CLIFTON LANE, whom John cordially dislikes.

A party is given by NOEL and VERA BOYD, and Vera shows an interest in John which he does not return, but which arouses Fay's jealousy. Noel Boyd later boasts of an arrangement with Vera, his wife, whereby each leaves the other free to do as he pleases.

Fay and the baby go to Chicago to visit Fay's parents, and John knocks around with Pat Forbes, whose wife also is away.

John gets a phone call from DOROTHY FRANCIS, a girl he used to know in his college days and who is in town with a musical comedy. He takes her to supper and she discusses theatrical publicity with him, explaining that she wants to get on the dramatic stage. John returns to the restaurant after talking her to the theater, and MARTHA BOOTH, who is there with PAUL DAVIDSON, gets sarcastic when he tells them that he and Dorothy had been discussing business.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious)

CHAPTER XXVIII

John colored and it took quite an effort to keep from answering Martha's sarcasm with sarcasm of his own.

"I don't blame you for not believing me," he said, smiling. "No one ever believes that a pretty girl and a man can talk business. Yes, she's really on the stage, Martha. As for her lady with Pat Forbes—"

He hugged and left the sentence unfinished.

"Oh I've seen them together before," Martha declared disdainfully and Paul spoke up. "Why what's the matter with you, Martha? If I didn't know that women never get jealous of me I'd say you were a little displeased with John's suggestion that he introduce me to his friend."

Martha Booth colored hotly and John saw that Paul's cruel shaft had gone home. Paul, he took pains to tell Martha, was the most uncultured man of culture he had ever seen.

Then he excused himself and went over to join Pat.

Making his way along between crowded tables he felt suddenly alone now that he was without female companionship and cursed himself for coming back. A woman he had never seen before smiled at him from a table, and he acknowledged it with one of his own and kept on walking.

Pat was waiting for him, and Cora, it seemed, wanted to apologize for her conduct. John said that she was truly sorry and perceived, too, that she cared a great deal too much for Forbes for that worthy's good.

"I have a bad temper," she told John, "and sometimes I can't control it."

"Who was your friend, John?" asked Pat, and John told him.

"I thought I had seen her before," said Cora. "I saw 'Helene' the other night."

She wanted my advice on theatrical publicity," John went on, for Cora's benefit, for he mistrusted her. "I used to know her in my college days."

"Now I'll tell one," said Pat, and laughed. But John assured him that between such friends he had no reason to fear frankness.

A little later he excused himself and, refusing Pat's offer of a drink he made his way out, half tempted to drop in at the theater and see the last part of Dorothy's show.

He met Dorothy the next day and they had lunch at her hotel.

"Here," he said, "placing some typewritten sheets in her hand, "are some hunches that might help your press agent."

She skimmed over them and, satisfied "They ARE clever," she enthused. "I wonder if you would care to take me on as a publicity client. Of course I would pay you and pay you well, just as any of your advertising clients."

He shook his head. "Not in my line. Besides I couldn't think of charging you anything."

"Why not? It's business, isn't it?"

"Not a bit of it," he assured her. "Sentiment No. Dot. I'd be glad to give you ideas from time to time, but I don't know any of the ropes. The details will have to be handled by a regular theatrical press agent. If you want to pay me, just leave me a picture."

"Well, that's easily done," she said and rose. "Come up to my room and you may take your pick."

In her room she opened her trunk and brought out a sizable stack of photographs. John maliciously chose one of her in scanty costume, that she tried to hide.

"Wretch," she said, "what will your wife say?"

"My wife need never see it," he answered. "This is a precious reminder of my callow youth which is my own and not my wife's. When the critics are acclaiming you the "second Bernhardt," I shall gaze at it and remember the days when I called you Dot."

"Silly!" she said scornfully, but she seemed pleased, nevertheless, and her vivid eyes danced.

She held out her hand. "I must get a little rest now, for the matinee. Thanks for the lunch—and for everything."

He kept holding her hand. "Aren't you going to kiss me goodbye, Dot?"

The green eyes looked at him curiously, seemed to be appraising him. Then, very coolly, she said, "Yes, John, I am," and raised her lips.

He left, promising to come to see "Helene" that evening.

The next day Dorothy had left town and, feeling utterly lonely, he dropped in at the Meneffees for dinner. Dick and Margaret he hadn't seen in a long time and they were quite reproachful that he had not been a frequent visitor during Fay's absence from Appleton.

Dick was getting a little heavier, he thought, and a glance around the rooms told him that the young doctor had been spending money.

"I declare," he said at dinner, "I feel as if I must call you Dr. Meneffee instead of Dick" and Meneffee smiled. "The next step toward dig out would be Richard" wouldn't it, John?"

Margaret said, "Jee. Dick has been doing very well lately. I think, John, you must have been spreading word for several of his new patients are friends of yours."

"Well, why not?" John asked. "Ethics don't permit him to do his own advertising. What better than that an advertising man do it for him?"

Margaret laughed and Dick grunted. "I think some of my young competitors suspect" an unbold allusion of some sort he told John.

John, looking appraisingly at Dick, accused the latter of getting fat.

Meneffee patted his stomach. "Well," he said doubtfully "the waist line is getting a little larger. Margaret's cooking, John."

"And how a Clara?" John asked.

"How are she and Lane hitting it off?"

Margaret answered, "Oh all right" and at once changed the topic and John sensed that he had hit upon a forbidden topic. "Ohhoh!" he thought "sits the wind in that quarter? All is not well, then with Clara."

Dick, with the air of a solid man of property reared back in his chair and hit a cigar. "Thinking of buying a house John," he announced.

"Well," said John, bluntly, "what are you going to put in it?"

Dick caught his meaning and was taken off his guard a little but he laughed and looked swiftly and significantly at Margaret, who said in a decisive tone, "I don't intend to have any babies, John" and rose from the table.

Dick's face fell a little at this pronouncement and John was a little embarrassed and regretted his own vulgar bluntness.

"I'm sorry, Margaret," he began but suddenly changed his mind and blurted out, "Now see here you two

I guess we're good enough friends so that I can speak my mind."

"Go right ahead, John," Dick urged and Margaret smiled indulgently.

"Well, then," John went on, "I'll tell you this—that if you two don't have any children you ought to be spanked."

Dick and Margaret both laughed. Dick a little uneasily, and John knew beyond doubt that he was fighting Dick's battle.

"Margaret," John said with a sudden change of tone, "the saddest and loneliest people I know are those who have lived too long without children. Don't be foolish." He rose suddenly from his chair. "That's all I have to say. Pardon me for saying even that. Now, Dick, what about the house you're thinking of buying?"

"I had thought of building. Plenty of time, you know. Thought I'd wait a while until I could afford what I want."

"I'm afraid you won't notice your old friends if this prosperity continues," John laughed, and Dick, grinning, said, "Oh, all I'll do to you is send you stiffer bills."

"What have you been doing with yourself since Fay has been away?" Margaret asked. "Have you been behaving yourself?"

"Not too well," John admitted. "I've been catching up on a few bad habits, such as drinking and late hours."

Dick frowned. Not too heavy on it, John. You've got a business to watch, you know."

"Why, what's the matter with you?" John old hypocrite?"

Dick shrugged. "You know what I mean people talk a lot."

"Well, Pat Forbes and I did do a lot of running around," John confessed. "Still, it'll do me good. A man needs to cut loose once in a while."

"That's not a scientific viewpoint," said Dick. "I'm speaking as Dr. Meneffee now."

"Well, don't send me a bill for that bit of advice," John laughed. "You're likely to wait a long time to collect it."

Nat Graham looked up briefly from his desk when John entered the office Monday morning, and a little later came over and said he wanted to speak to John in private.

"Look here," he said when they were alone, "people are talking about you."

"What the devil do you mean?" John flared.

"Now, don't fly off the handle, I'm telling you for your own good. I've heard several people say that you and Pat Forbes were running around pretty recklessly since Mrs. Milburn has been away."

"Well, that's my business, isn't it?" John said coldly. "Since when did this concern take over an interest in my domestic and private life?"

Graham's heavy eyelids fluttered nervously. He said sharply, "Look here, John, a firm's reputation is no better than the reputation of its members. People aren't going to trust their advertising with us if they think we are irresponsible. It isn't so much what you do but what people say about you that hurts."

"Hell!" John grumbled. "It's got ting so a fellow can't play number-peg any more without someone knocking him in the back for it. Just what kind of a reputation do I seem to be getting?" he asked sarcastically.

"Neither one of us," Nat said coldly, "can afford to be seen running around with Pat Forbes and his doubtful friends, and you were seen in a public dining room the other day with a flashy looking actress. It isn't as if you were unknown in town, you know. You've got to be careful."

Now—for America a revolutionary European-type high-speed Light Car

This New Car Offers:

- 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline
- 55 miles an hour—5 to 30 miles in 13 seconds
- 4-wheel brakes—stops in 51 feet from 40 miles an hour
- Turns in 34-foot circle—easiest car in America to park
- 5 feet 8 inches high—lower gravity center—greater safety
- European-type body—more inside room than any other light car

One of the first Whippets being inspected by Miss Lois Wilson at her New York motion picture studio

A three-minute study of these remarkable facts may save you from buying an obsolete automobile

THIS is the announcement of a revolutionary new-type car, different from anything you have ever known before.

A car that combines the advanced engineering practice of Europe with new and improved standards of American performance.

This new car has a low, European-type body. With height and length in true symmetrical proportion.

It is 5 feet 8 inches high . . . not as tall as the average man. Yet it provides more room and comfort than you've ever found in any automobile of this class before.

It has a high-torque, 31 horsepower motor of small bore and long stroke—the same engineering principle used in the fastest racing cars of America and Europe.

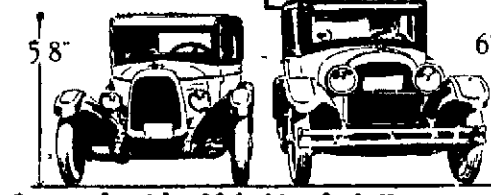

It turns in a 34-foot circle . . . that's less than the width of an average city street. You can park in 14 feet . . . which is much less than the space required for the ordinary car.

4-wheel brakes are an integral part of this new car's chassis design . . . a necessity which light car owners have not heretofore enjoyed. Measured tests show that it will stop in 51 feet from a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Its center of gravity is extremely low, with ample road clearance . . . thus giving a sense of security you have never found in any light car. Something you actually feel when you drive this car.

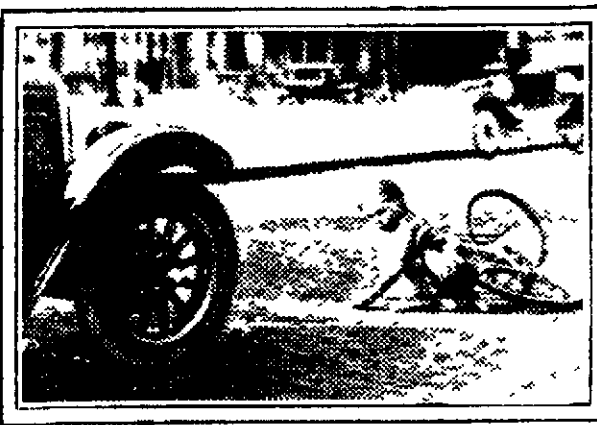

Two engineering ideals combined

The Overland Whippet represents a combination of the most advanced European and American engineering thought.

Compared with old-fashioned, bulky cars the Whippet appears smaller and much more graceful

It is a complete new car . . . designed and built as a unit . . . not an old-fashioned reconstructed chassis. For over three years, Willys-Overland engineers in Europe and America have been developing it. Over 360,000 miles of road tests proved the practical advantages of this car before it was released for production.

12-inch 4-wheel brakes enable this car to stop in 51 feet from a speed of 40 miles per hour

The distinctive body lines of the Overland Whippet frankly resemble the smartest automobiles of America and Continental Europe. Stand in front of this car and you can imagine yourself on the boulevards of France.

Low-slung . . . rakish . . . graceful as a whippet . . . that's the only way to describe it.

Complete symmetry of design has been achieved with compact external dimensions.

Compared with contemporary big, bulky cars the Overland Whippet appears smarter and much more graceful. That's because height and length are in true artistic proportion.

In the Overland Whippet you have the feeling of riding closer to the ground . . . with the resultant sense of solidity and absence of that sideway so noticeable in the conventional type of car. That high-up-in-the-air feeling is gone . . . here is a new kind of riding comfort. Step into this car and you will be surprised to find so much spacious room.

You can compare the Overland Whippet with all other American light cars on the basis of price alone. But from the standpoint of engineering, performance, comfort and quality, it has established an entirely new criterion by which all other light cars must be judged.

The Overland Whippet is furnished in three body styles . . . Sedan, Touring and Coupe.

See this new-type car

You have never seen a car like this before. With the introduction of the Overland Whippet, it is not sound judgment today to consider the purchase of a less modern car.

A new trend of automobile design is dawning in America. Other light cars of this design will follow this one.

But today Overland . . . and Overland alone . . . offers you these unique engineering attainments.

In fairness to yourself, see this wonderful new-type car. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

self on the ground like a track—a long, long track that stretched as far as they could see, like a railroad; the black lines on the sides became rails and the lines of printing became ties.

The little black patch, with the date on it turned into a car, and the Twins got in.

Then the little car rolled along and rolled along and rolled along on the pink ticket-track and finally it stopped at the station of Nip-and-Tuck Town.

The ticket then picked itself up and jumped back into Nancy's pocket again, and then the Twins realized that the little car had dumped them out and disappeared also.

"I wonder why they call this place Nip-and-Tuck Town," said Nick.

"Because it's a nip to get in and tuck to get out," said the station agent which happened to be a large mail-box marked, "Parcels and Letters."

The Twins looked very much surprised to see so strange a person, but everything was so different in Drowsy Land that they were becoming accustomed to it.

"We're looking for Inco, our china elephant that ran off, and Flops, my toy clown who ran off with him," said Nick. "Did you see them?"

"Did they come by rail or by mail?" said the mail-box.

Nancy and Nick looked at each other. They knew the runaways had come on a moonbeam, but it did sound too silly to say so. "We're not quite sure," said Nancy.

"Well," said the mail-box kindly. "I shall look in all my letters and newspapers—perhaps there is news of him there."

The mail-box took a key out of his pocket and unlocked his front door. Out spilled a hundred letters and papers and about six parcels.

"Oh, dear," said Nancy. "They are all in envelopes."

"That doesn't matter, does it?" asked the mail-box in surprise.

"Of course it does. You can't open a letter that doesn't belong to you. Can you, Nick?"

"I should say not," said Nick.

"But if you have your name on it's different," said the mail-box. "Here is one addressed to the Twins, Nip-and-Tuck Town, Drowsy-Land-on-the-Moon."

"Well, I declare!" said Nancy. "Whoever knew we were here!"

"Oh, lots of people," said the mail-box.

"What is the next station?" asked Nick.

"It's called Nip-and-Tuck Town," said the ticket.

"It in Drowsy Land?" asked Nick, who was still feeling around in his pockets to make sure that none of the vanished money had remained. He and Nancy had found bushels of it, you know, and suddenly—puff—it disappeared in a second.

"Yes, Nip-and-Tuck Town is in Drowsy Land," said the ticket. "You will have some queer adventures there."

The ticket began to slide out of Nancy's pocket, and then it laid its

Dozens of Appleton fans are planning on making the short trek to Oshkosh Sunday afternoon to see Manager Baetz's rejuvenated Paper-makers battle the loop leaders in what should be a real struggle. The game will start at 2:30. The local team will leave about noon in a special bus.

If Appleton can win from the league leaders there will be quite a change in the standings and it would not be at all surprising to see the locals come through as they have been playing ball in their last two starts. Kimberly too has been showing plenty of class the past two weeks and expect to bump off the Neenah outfit. Neenah has been on the short end of the apple supposed to come from Darnie Fortune and as result have not broken into the win column but Manager Larsen is looking for a change which he expects might come at the expense of the Kimberly gang.

Fond du Lac—Eyes of the fans in the Fox River Valley will be turned toward Green Bay on Sunday when a game which will decide the holder of second place in the standings of the Valley league will be staged between the Fond du Lac aggregation and Joe Clusman's Green Sox representing the ancient city. And what a battle it should be. Besides being a battle for second place there are several other features connected with it that should add immensely to the interest.

Three weeks ago Green Bay invaded Fondy and walloped Manager Par's outfit 6 to 3 and this defeat has rankled in the heart of the diminutive Fondy leader and he has declared that it is the last game this year that his team will lose to the Bayers. The Leu, strikethrough king of the league will be on the bill for the Fondys and Par is confident that his prize moundmen will have no difficulty in turning back the Bays. However on the other side of the fence comes a different story. Manager Clusman's boys have dropped two straight games and they are "hot" to get back into another winning streak and are doing a lot of extra practice work to help them on their way. Much of these practice sessions have been in the way of stick work and the venerable Chief Williams declares that the youngsters have shown a decided improvement in connecting with the "old apple." If this be true, Leu is apt to have more than his hands full in turning back the Green Sox.

Another interesting thing in connection with the game is the fact that two old timers, one Herman "Red" Sanders, and Ed "Chief" Williams will be in action. Both have been playing ball for so long that they are about in a class with perpetual motion. It is worth noting the workings of old Father Time both are playing with all the "pep" and enthusiasm of a rookie. When it comes to funny stunts and wise cracks both are in a class by themselves and it is probable that the fans will be treated to some good laughs in addition to some mighty clasy baseball.

HITS COMPSTON

FRANK WALSH
Star pro of the Eutte des Morts Country club of Appleton who will engage one of the best entrants in the National Open Golf tourney in his first-round match at the Scioto club links at Columbus, Ohio, on July 8. Pairings were announced Thursday by the United States Golf Association, national governing body. Walsh meets Archie Compston, crack British pro, noted for his long driving. Compston, who will become an American citizen and live in this country in the near future, finished in a tie for fifth in the British open meet which ended Friday. He shot a 76-74-78-71-299 to tie Abe Mitchell as the low Englishman, finishing 8 strokes behind Bobby Jones, winner of the meet. He shot a pretty 71 on the final stretch.

ATHLETES STAR AS SCHOLARS AT BADGER SCHOOL

Grades Are So Good Coach Little Has Difficulty Awarding Scholarship Cup

MADISON—(P)—The cloud of scholastic ineligibility that darkens athletics has been dispelled at the University of Wisconsin. Director George Little announced Friday. As a result, Wisconsin's prospects for next season are the brightest in years.

Director Little, who is also head grid coach, characterized the scholarship returns of his football and basketball players, and other athletes generally, at the end of the school year, as "fine."

In fact, the grades were so good that he is puzzling over the awarding of the scholarship cup which he offered to the candidates who turned out for spring football practice. Some half dozen of his most promising football players have made top grades of more than 89 in their studies, and the coach said it would be a close contest among them for the cup.

The returns at the close of the scholastic year demonstrate that an athlete can make good grades if he studies. Coach Little commented, "The fact that the grades among the Wisconsin athletes are uniformly good indicates a unity of spirit that promises exceptionally well for next season."

The grades also indicate, he said, that the few who disregard scholastic and training rules have failed to affect the team spirit which spurs the players to seek a high standard of scholarship as an aid in keeping athletic squads intact.

NEXT WEEK'S GAMES
Monday—Y. M. C. A. vs. Bankers.
Wednesday—Legion vs. Post-Crescent.
Friday—Meyer Press vs. Interlakes.

Errors by the dozen, of which about eight were contributed by Stoeckbauer, Bank third-sacker, plus dumb baserunning, sent the Bankers down to defeat Friday afternoon in their twilight loop game with the Legion at Jones park, by the top-heavy score of 12-3. Though the Legion swatted the pill hard most of its runs were direct results of the Bankers wild attempts at throwing the ball around. When they got in, the Bankers either wandered off "unconsciously," were doubled or took bad chances on infield hits.

The Legion fielded in faultless style behind Louth Graef who heaved a nice tilt though he was hit hard at times. In these pinches, Legion snappy support cut off hits and runs. Wiseman also hurled a nice game about equal with Graef, but his mates threw it away whenever possible.

Fleeting features were the stellar attractions of the day. Potter, Bank leftfielder, and McKenzie, first sacker, starred for their team. The left fielder picked off flies in great style, while at first Mac got the ball on bad bounds in the dirt to get the runner and once just about toe-dished on the bag with his hand outstretched above his head to take an extra high one with one hand for an out. Voeks pulled a horseshoe when he camped under the trees on a hard drive and the ball dropped between two of his fingers.

For the Legion, Doc Frawley was outstanding and not because of his bulk, either. He played shortstop and beside roaming into the field for flies, knocked down what should have been easy hits over second and got his man. He sped over from short, stuck out a paw, knocked the ball down and then continuing on the run, picked it up and shot accurate throws to first to get the man.

The result was never in doubt after the third frame where the Legion lead, 8-1. The Soldiers scoring three in first, three in the third, three in the fifth, to in the sixth and one in the ninth. The Bankers scored once in the third seventh and ninth and should have had about six more. Voeks got on base every time he batted so did Frawley for the Legion.

Frank Walsh Meets British Pro Star

Work Of Cincinnati Reds Both At Bat And In Field Big Aid In Rise To Lead

Hendricksmen, Not Regarded as Sluggers, Top Loop; Brewers Tied for Bat Lead

CHICAGO—(P)—Pounding away in unpretentious fashion since the start of the season, the Cincinnati Reds, hardly regarded as a slugging club, in a week which has seen them step to the front in the National pennant chase have become the leading hitters in the league. They have also set up the best fielding record among the teams in the senior circuit.

Five of the Red regulars are hitting in the two hundreds but Hendricks has three players among the first ten batters in the league and enough others scattered along above the 300 mark to give the team a batting average of .258. With fewer extra bases on their hits than a handful of the other clubs, the Reds are tied with St. Louis for the highest run total.

Some significance might be attached to the fact that the Cincinnati club and the Cardinals, having made the most runs to date, among National clubs, have also turned in the largest number of sacrifices. The Reds have sacrificed 106 times, the Cards ranking second in that department with 86. The Hendricks men have otherwise avoided credited at bats by way of the pitcher's box, their 221 walks bring more than are shown by any other league club.

In team slugging, the Reds hold only a bare margin over the Cubs, whose drop in the game standings is not reflected in their batting and fielding percentages. The McCarty men finished the eleventh week of the majors year with a hitting average of .387, just ahead of the 288 of the world champion Pirates.

Kiki Cuyler, leads the individual batting with an average of .365 and is still showing both leagues how to steal bases. He has run his total to 15, drawing away from the persistent Frisch. While players above him a week ago slumped, Bressler of Cincinnati climbed into second place in slugging with .359. Traynor of the Pirates being third with scant margins over Herman of Brooklyn, Smith of Pittsburgh and Rogers Harnsey.

Babe Ruth has altered a little in his dash to keep up with his record breaking home-running of 1921 but is well out in front as the leading hitter in the majors. Finishing the eleventh week of the season with 23 circuit drives, the Babe had an average of .388. His sailing was not so smooth elsewhere, however, his team-mate Gehrig going into a tie for the most runs last Tuesday.

Between Ruth and Gehrig and a string of other players slugging right up at the top, the Yankees have most of the majors batting honors tucked away. Their .312 average is by far the best in either league and they have turned in more runs, more hits and more home runs than any other major club. Also more strike-outs than any team except the St. Louis Nationals.

The White Sox rank second in American League club hitting with .296, and Detroit is third with .290. Meusel of the Yanks failed to increase his total of stolen bases, relinquishing the majors theft honors to Cuyler in the other league. Rice of the Senators, Hunnefeld of Chicago and Mostil of the White Sox are pressing Meusel for the lead in the American.

Having added another winning start, Lee Meadows of the Pirates finished the eleventh week with eight victories and no defeat. Ted Lyons, pitching for Chicago in the other league, hasn't Meadows' perfect record but Lyons has pitched twice as many games, winning a dozen and losing four. Hoyt and Pennock of the Yankees each have 11-4 games so far, among leading American pitchers. Rhem of the Cardinals has lost the lead in the number of victories but wound up the first eleven weeks with the remarkable record of 11 games won and but 1 lost in the National.

Leading hitters in 35 or more National games: Cuyler of Pittsburgh, .365; Bressler of Cincinnati, .359; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .351; Herman, Brooklyn, .349; Smith of Pittsburgh, .345; Hornsby, St. Louis, .341; Christensen, Cincinnati, .341; Brown, Boston, .340; Wright, Pittsburgh, .333; Walker of Cincinnati, .332.

Leading American hitters in 35 or more games: Ruth of New York, .388; Heilmann of Detroit, .377; Falk, Chicago, .367; Burns, Cleveland, .366; Meusel, New York, .364; Dugan, New York, .364; Mostil, Chicago, .360; Collins of Chicago, .354; Gehrig, New York, .349; Cobb, Detroit, .344.

The race for batters honors in the American Association has developed into a slugging match between the Milwaukee Brewers and the champion Louisville Colonels, tied with club averages of .316.

Each of the teams has three players among the leading hitters and the teams generally are slugging effectively. Kansas City and Toledo, with averages of .311 and .304, respectively, are pressing the leaders and Indianapolis ranks fifth in the standing with a percentage of .302.

Veach of Toledo increased his dizzy hitting pace to finish the eleventh week of the season just short of .400, has average of .399 leading by a narrow margin the .397 and .396, respectively, of the two Milwaukee players, Shulte and Brief.

Pat Duncan goes into the last week of the season's third month with 14 homers to lead the Association, Shulte's part in Milwaukee's climb is shown by his total of 80 runs, well above anything in the National or American leagues.

The fleet Lebourveau of the Mud-hens has run into difficulty in his base stealing after pilfering 23, Richbourg of the Brewers collecting his twenty-second while the Toledo player stood on his total.

Dawson of the Colonels reached the end of the eleventh week with the cleanest mound record, eight games won and none lost. Eddieann of Milwaukee had the most winning starts, 12, with 3 defeats.

Leading hitters in 35 or more games: Veach, Toledo, .399; Shulte, Milwaukee, .397; Brief, Milwaukee, .396; Boettger, St. Paul, .386; Louisville, .379; Lebourveau, Toledo, .370; McMenamy, Milwaukee, .370; Duncan, Minneapolis, .362; Murray, Kansas City, .355.

JONES' WINNING OF MEET DAZZLES GOLF

LONDON—(P)—The golfing world was dazzled Saturday over the winning of the British open by Bobby Jones of Atlanta at St. Amos.

British golfers, were amazed that after Jones, came three other Americans, Al Watrous and Walter Hagen, professional, and George Von Elm, amateur in the van of Abe Mitchell, one of Great Britain's most astute players, and a number of other Englishmen.

Jones, with 72-73-73-74-291 equalled the aggregate record by James Braid in 1908 when he won the open. Watrous was two and Hagen and Von Elm four strokes behind Bobby. Mitchell trailed by eight strokes.

That the young American amateur champion should be the first American to win the open and snatch victory from the world's greatest professionals—a feat that no amateur has accomplished since Harold Hilton won it 29 years ago—is regarded as a great achievement.

Safety lowers for flagmen have been erected at the four turns of the State Fair track and Legion officials announce that they have taken every precaution for the safety of spectators and drivers.

Free parking space for upward of 5000 automobiles has been provided, and the gates of the grounds will be opened at 11 o'clock Sunday morning for the benefit of out of town speedsters who want to bring their lunch "down" before the race starts at 2:30 o'clock.

YANKS TAKE TWO TO ADD TO LEAD

Reds Take Good Grip on First in N. L. by Walloping Pirates in Slugfest

CHICAGO—(P)—Six games in the major leagues Friday produced 87 runs, an average of almost 15 a contest. The American league scored 45 and the National 42, each circuit playing three games.

The Yankees strengthened their hold on first place in the American by downing the Red Sox twice 12 to 2, and 11 to 4. The Yanks picked up an early lead in the opener aided by a home run from the bat of Tony Lazzeri, his tenth of the season, and in the second encounter Babe Ruth registered his 24th home run. Bob Meusel was injured in a slide to second base in the second contest and was carried from the field.

Red Faber essayed to improve Chicago's second place position but failed before the slugging of the Browns who drove him from the mound in the third and continued their assault on Thurston to win 11 to 4. Bing Miller, recently obtained by the Browns from the Athletics in a trade, hit a homer, triple and single, while Manager George Sieler recorded four one base smashes.

Cincinnati gained title to first place in the National league by beating Pittsburgh in a hit fest 9 to 8. The Reds obtained 17 safe blows and the Pirates 15. Wainer of the world champions had five singles for a perfect batting day. Bressler led the Cincinnati attack with a triple and 2 singles.

A battle of brothers occurred at Brooklyn where Jess Barnes of the Dodgers outpitched his brother Virgil, the Giants to win 7 to 4. Only six singles were garnered from the delivery of the veteran Jess, while his mates pounded the brother for 9 in 7 frames when he was relieved by Chick Davies.

Mokan and Bancroft hit home runs in another battle of bats at Philadelphia, the Phillies winning from the Braves, 8 to 7. Morgridge went all the way for Boston but three singles were together in the ninth defeated him.

HARVARD CREW LOSES SIXTH IN ROW TO ELI

New London, Conn.—(P)—Yale has closed her fourth straight season or unbroken vassity rowing triumphs under the coaching of Ed Leader, formerly of Washington, with a sixth successive victory over her ancient rival, Harvard, and many experts look for another Washington triumph on the Hudson next Monday in the intercollegiate regatta. Yale varsity oars, which have not tasted defeat since May 1922, when they failed Cornell, vanquished Harvard Friday evening in a four mile race on the Thames river after Harvard had won the freshman and junior varsity two mile contests. The Yale varsity finished two lengths ahead.

The powerful Yale eight's time was twenty minutes, 14.25 seconds, a new record for the upstream route. Yale led virtually all the way and pulled away in the last quarter mile, after Harvard had cut into Yale's margin with a thrilling spurt begun at the three mile mark.

In the races with Harvard, Yale now shows 32 victories while Harvard has registered 27.

Newt Hansen, Racine, won a technical knockout over Joseph Lawson, Columbus, Ohio.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Harry Fay, Charleroi, Mich., beat Mike Wallace, Cleveland, (10.)

COMPSTON PLAYS LOCAL LINKSMAN IN OPEN TOURNEY

Famous English Golfer Drawn as Walsh's 1st Round Opponent at Scioto Course

Archie Compston, star British professional golfer, will be the first opponent of Frank Walsh, crack Butte des Morts club pro, in the National Open Golf meet which will be played over the course of the Scioto Country club, Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 8, 9 and 10. The pairings were announced Thursday by the national governing body, the United States Golf Association. Walsh and Compston take the first tee in their match at 12:30 Thursday morning and will finish early in the afternoon.

Compston has been in the United States for some time and has decided to live here, becoming an American citizen. He is one of England's best golfers. Friday he finished in a tie with Abe Mitchell for fifth in the British open meet, knocking up a 298, 8 strokes behind Bobby Jones, American winner. He and Mitchell tied for low English plays. He shot a neat 71 in his final round after a poor start. Par for the course is 71. Compston is noted for his long driving, sending the pellet whistling into the far spaces practically every try, but if Walsh is on he also can turn this trick.

Walsh entered the pro meet, by a neat 158 in the qualifying round at the Calumet club at Chicago a few weeks ago. He was third in the British open meet, knocking up a 298, 8 strokes behind Bobby Jones, American winner. He and Mitchell tied for low English plays. He shot a neat 71 in his final round after a poor start. Par for the course is 71. Compston is noted for his long driving, sending the pellet whistling into the far spaces practically every try, but if Walsh is on he also can turn this trick.

The three Wisconsin pros in the meet got an even break in pairings. Francis Gullett, Blue Mound, Milwaukee, also got one of the best men in the meet but he should play better because of the strong competition.

He drew Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, Mich., who finished second to Bobby Jones in the British open Friday with a 293, just 2 strokes to the rear. Watrous is a star of the first water and lead the Americans at the end of the third round in which he shot a classy 68. He is leading American golfer Gullett, enters the big meet without playing in the qualifying round as the result of his fine showing last year. His match with Watrous is slated to start at 10:20 Thursday morning.

Jack Blakelee, Kenosha, three-time state open champ, who finished second in the qualifying round, drew William Harbhorn, an Illinois man, who also finished high at the Calumet qualification round. They clash in the morning. Carl Wiman of Channel Lake, Wis., a fourth Badger entry, meets Billy Glancey of Morristown, N. J., in a match starting at 1:05 Thursday afternoon.

Hollywood, Calif.—Newsboy Brown, New York, defeated Teddy Sylva, Oakland, (10.)

Atlantic City—(P)—Lew Tandler, Philadelphia, scored a knockout over George Russell, Wilkesbarre, (6.)

SCHWARZE COMPETES IN CHICAGO CONTEST

CHICAGO—(P)—A post season call of the sinder lanes and vaulting pits Saturday brought to Soldier's field the outstanding midwest college track men of the year to compete with amateurs of the district in the annual running of the central A. A. U. outdoor championships.

The lure of individual laurels to add to those won in the spring's intercollegiate competitions was the attraction for college athletes, the team championship being conceded a renewal of the rivalry between the Chicago A. A. and the Illinois A. C. Several schools have numbers of entries but are not expected to seriously challenge for the title.

George Guthrie, Ohio State hurdler, and Herbert Schwarze, Wisconsin's shot put star, are two record-holding college stars competing unattached.

The 1926 games are under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

JOCK HUTCHISON—BALANCE HOOK AGAINST SLICE
Slicing has caused a lot of timid beginners to give up the game in disgust. It is most aggravating to play a round of golf and slice nine out of 10 shots to the tall and uncut grass. Slicing is caused by the face of the club cutting across the ball and starting it to spin from left to right. There are two ways that this can be done. One is the intentional slice made by the expert player who slices for a purpose and the other is the slice of the duffer who sends the hands in ahead of the club.

This is caused by poor pivoting. The player attempts to hit with his body and his hands before the club-head is permitted to connect properly.

RAILS MOUNT TO HIGHEST LEVEL

Twenty Leading Industrial Shares Approach February
High Record

New York—(P)—Further progress on the upside was made in this week's stock market with the average of 20 leading railroad issues mounting to the highest level in several years. The average of 20 leading industrial shares approached within six points of the record high established in February, having recovered about three quarters of the ground lost in the March and April reactions.

Steel money rates ruled above four per cent due to the heavy demand for funds in connection with midyear settlements.

'Strength of the railroad shares reflected the continuation of heavy freight traffic, the million car mark again being crossed in the week ended
 June 12.

Steel shares displayed a relatively firm undertone with buying influenced by reports that new business in June exceeded that of May and by stiffen-ing price tendencies, an increase of $2
 a ton in steel beams being announced during the week.

Oil shares displayed a temporary display of strength.

Weakness cropped out in the motors, coincident with the curbing of operations by several large manufacturers during the inventory season.
 Food, equipment and merchandising issues also presented several points of strength.

Wholesale and retail sales and the selling movement also spread to such issues as Coca Cola, Simmons Bed,
 International Combustion Engineering and Luggert and Myers "B." Union Oil of California, Case Threshing
 Machine and Union Bag and Paper
 Company.

United States Steel and National Biscuit moved fractionally higher. Rail shares were firm.

Selling activities predominated in the early dealings but the market turned dull on the reaction and decisions were limited to a point or so.
 Woolworth, Kresge and other merchandise issues were depressed by the weekly trade reports of business in wholesale and retail sales and the selling movement also spread to such issues as Coca Cola, Simmons Bed,

 International Combustion Engineering and Luggert and Myers "B." Union Oil of California, Case Threshing
 Machine and Union Bag and Paper
 Company.

Fond du Lac—The above ten players official averages released Saturday include the leading sluggers of the Valley circuit. Louis Paris, manager of Fond du Lac is leading the league in hitting, with Freddie Hackbarth close to his heels followed by Kell of Kimberly and Novotny of Oshkosh. Johnny Saif leads the sluggers above in stolen bases also in two base hits. These averages are released by President C. L. Pre-Fontaine of Fond du Lac.

The official summer was ushered in at 10:30 on the 22nd with a nice warm day—following this advent—was hoped that "Old Sol" will be more merciful henceforth. Last Sunday three good games were played, and the umpires lived up to their instructions in hitting at the "One Hour and fifty minutes mark" by pulling three games within that period. The star game was at Appleton, one hour and twenty-four minutes being a league record—at Fond du Lac one hour and forty minutes, at Oshkosh one hour and forty five minutes all going to prove that the umpires are hurrying up the game and shows a marked difference from two hours and up, formerly played. With such snappy work and wonderfully handled games, with no arguments or "umpire bating" this class of ball is attracting the fans in large numbers.

The game played at Oshkosh last Sunday will go into history as one of the best played games in the Sawdust city—despite a half dozen other side attractions in the city—and much comment—Bruce had a big crowd watching him make history. Noel as like Sanders of Fondy, Chief Williams of the Bay, Larson of Neenah, he simply will not quit. With that southpaw going like it did Sunday, and the supply of wonderful plays in stock, backing him up Bruce will win many ball games.

The successful "comeback" of "Eps" (Albert) Leu of Fond du Lac was the sensation and surprise of the season. Leu although about the size of "Dainty Denny" Gearing of the Brewers possesses a greater amount of skill as an all around player, being fitted to play in any position and can jump right in any game at any period, and make good. His presence on the team is just what one might term the balance wheel.

Nixon the man with the change of pace at Neenah has been pitching in hard luck, he should break soon into the win column and will make the best team in the league go some to beat him. Possessing a murdering cross fire with a terrible submarine, and ability to control it to the extent that he deceives the leading sluggers of the league entitles him to mighty careful consideration.

At Appleton, the city of wonders, where Manager Baetz has accomplished what was termed the impossible, and has revived baseball to a greater degree than was ever expected, things are going very smoothly. Crowe the "boy wonder" has been going strong, and will demonstrate his worth and ability as the season progresses. The citizens are backing Baetz right up and it is to be commended. With the players with Baetz, he sure has a great combination to work with. Ashman, has star pitcher is coming through great this year and is fast developing into a great player.

At Kimberly "Ossie" Cooke and the "Comme Mack" of the circuit, has a great collection of stars and a great team. Some of the fastest and best firstbasemen was witnessed at Green Bay three weeks ago, and was worth while going to see Schell and Laneyre pull big league stuff. The Pecon family seem to be alive with the spirit of the times, and every available male member is pulling to win a ball game. The Theins and Lemars also are at their favorite pastime.

Green Bay is another "wonder" city. They have taken to home talent ball with a bang, thanks to Manager Clusman and Chief Williams, who have made the team possible.

GO GETTERS WIN 1ST GAME IN GIRLS LOOP

Kimberly-The Gogetters, captained by Ethel Verhagen, conquered the Invincibles, lead by Virginia Ruten, 26-19, in the first game of the Kimberly Girls Twilight softball league played Thursday evening at the Kimberly park. Neither team had its full lineup. Buck LaMay mascot of the Kimberly valley league team, umpired the game.

BATTERED BREWS LOSE ANOTHER TO ST. PAUL

St. Paul—Allens Apostles treated the Brewers in shameful fashion here Friday afternoon and it will not be surprising if their calling cards are refused when next they come to Milwaukee. One dice novel inning—the eighth—when eleven runs galloped across the rubber, settled the Home Brews. The final margin was 15 to 4.

COATED PAPER SQUAD PLAYS MENASHA CREW

The Appleton Coated Paper Co. baseball team will meet the strong Menasha Falcons of Menasha in a game Sunday afternoon at Brandt park. The Coated squad is composed of former high school and industrial league stars. Batteries for the Appleton team will be Brockhouse and Brockhouse. The game will start at 2:30.

LOCAL EAGLES PLAY NEENAH SQUAD HERE

The Appleton Eagle baseball team will play the Neenah Eagles here Sunday afternoon at Interlake park. The Neenah crew defeated Appleton earlier in the season. The lineup for Appleton will be Klein, c. Vander-Hinden and Buck, p. 1b. Muenster, 2b. Krabbe, 3b. Boelsen, ss. Olsen, Currie and Kline, fielders.

KIMBERLY BALL SQUAD PLAYS GREEN BAY TEAM

Kimberly—The Junior Holy Name society ball team of Kimberly will play the Press-Gazette squad of Green Bay Sunday afternoon at Kimberly ball park. The game will start at 2:30.

with a bang, thanks to Manager Clusman and Chief Williams, who have made the team possible.

GIVE POSTOFFICE A STREET NUMBER

New Orleans—(AP)—More mail is received at 600 Camp Street each day than at any other building in New Orleans. The answer is that 600 Camp Street is the postoffice. It is one of the few postoffices boasting street numbers. The postoffice won this distinction by forcing a number on the Custom House. Mail carries complained that the Custom House boasted no street number and could not, therefore, be so officially identified. As a result of this agitation the Custom House became 423 Canal Street.

The suggestion was then made that the postoffice also lacked street number identification and an order from the postmaster general has remedied the defect.

INDIANS TOOK GAMES FROM EASTERN CLUBS

Eastern clubs didn't enjoy much success while in Cleveland on their recent western invasion. They won but four games out of 14. Even the mighty Grove of the Athletics failed to stop the Indians, though losing a tough 1-0 tilt that went 11 innings.

ARE BLONDES BASSON?
Paris—A contest, announced recently by the editor of a French journal, invites radio listeners to try to tell the complexions of speakers and singers by their voices. The competition is based on the fact that the blind can often tell the color of a person's hair by the voice.

DODGE BROTHERS have kept the faith, and implicit public confidence has been their reward.

Year after year the car has continued to mature into a better and better product.

Beauty has been added to dependability, comfort and silence to beauty. Endless refinements have been made, and the quality of every detail either maintained or improved.

The result is a name that is altogether worthy of the remarkable public trust it inspires, and too priceless ever to jeopardize.

New thousands see in the latest and finest Paige a sheer downright dollar-for-dollar value without equal elsewhere, and without precedent in automobile history.

An afternoon along Motor Row will definitely show you the reason for this amazing popularity. You simply can't find another car—at anywhere near $1495—that is as beautiful, as carefully built of quality materials, with an engine more modern, more efficient or more economical, with finer or more expensive brakes, or with features of vision, comfort, ease of handling and safety so numerous or so satisfying. See it—drive it—soon!
